by ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The construction of a new 200-bed county infirmmary estimated to cost $4.3 million and authorization for the issuance of bonds and capital notes to pay the cost was approved Thursday night by the unanimous action of the County Legislature.

Another resolution on the broad agenda approved the appointment of Edward W. Snyder as clerk of the Legislature and county budget officer to fill the vacancy created by the death of Edward R. Mance. Snyder immediately took over the duties of his office.

The infirmmary proposal was adopted despite a minor objection raised by Legislator Clarence Raichle, R-Kingston, who observed that the new infirmmary would put many of the existing private nursing homes out of business, and that the establishment of a tax map and approval of a county sales tax was needed to pay the cost of the project.

Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye, R-2nd District defended the proposal and offered study figures showing that there were many more infirmmary patients that the county would be unable to handle and these would still use private nursing homes. Dye said estimates indicated that the project would add about $45,000 per year to the county budget.

When asked about federal and state aid, the majority leader said he and Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons attended a conference on institutions and there learned enough from officials in attendance to make them optimistic about federal Hill-Burton funds which would provide one-third of the cost. This will depend on the federal appropriations in the next budget. Fitzsimmons, asked to speak, said there was no guarantee of Hill-Burton funds but the county had an A priority for a period of years and when funds were available the county would get the money. Dye said he had a commitment from the state for one-third of the cost.

The $4,085,000 bond issue proposed would be adjusted when aid funds are made available. A capital note for $215,000 would be used for initial costs.

Minority Leader Roger W. Mabie, D-7th District agreed with the views of Dye.

Nixon on Poverty

By MERRIMAN SMITH

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon today challenged the theory of the Johnson administration and Hubert H. Humphrey that poverty is the primary cause of crime.

Nixon in a special statement said Humphrey was "tragically naive" about the nature of what the Republican presidential aspirant called "the crime crisis that grips America."

"Just like the administration of which he is a part," Nixon said, "Mr. Humphrey has exaggerated and over-emphasized poverty in this country as a cause of crime. Certainly, conditions of poverty are the traditional breeding ground of criminals and we should not diminish our efforts to eliminate those conditions."

"But contrary to what this administration believes and preaches, the war on poverty is not a war on crime and it is no substitute for a war on crime."

Nixon offered these points to support his argument against the administration and Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate:

—Poverty does not account for the "dangerously accelerating use of drugs among the teen-agers of affluent America."

—In the last eight years when the gross national product and personal incomes have risen to record highs, "major" crimes have almost doubled" while millions of Americans, because of economic growth, crossed poverty lines into the affluent society.

"There are thousands of hardened criminals . . . who steal and rob, not because they are living in conditions of poverty but because they can make a comfortable and successful career out of crime," Nixon said.

"I say doubling the conviction rate . . . would do far more to cure crime in America than quadrupling the funds for Mr. Humphrey's war on poverty," the Republican nominee added.

The Nixon campaign momentum slowed this morning to allow the candidate time for staff conferences before continuing on to Cleveland, Ohio, for a statewide telecast tonight.

Meanwhile, Nixon sought to discourage speculation that if he is elected, such Republican senators as Strom Thurmond of South Carolina might be considered for his Cabinet.

" . . . as far as Senator Thurmond or any other senator is concerned, with the number of senators we have on the Republican side in the Senate, I don't believe that any senator really should go to the Cabinet. We need them there in the Senate."

Wallace on Jeers

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Cheered hysterically by thousands of admirers and heckled by civil rights pickets, George C. Wallace told his critics Thursday night that the days of "the anarchists in this country" are numbered.

Wallace's return to Wisconsin, the state where he first ran for president in 1964, brought a thunderous welcome from an estimated 6,000 followers who jammed the city auditorium to cheer their candidate and donate their dollars to his campaign fund.

More than 500 white and Negro youths led by the Rev. James E. Groppi, marched into the auditorium, too—on a different mission. They tried to drown out the former Alabama governor with noisy outbursts of heckling. Some even booed while the crowd was intoning the Lord's Prayer.

But they had difficulty making themselves heard because their jeers were drowned out by the tumultuous cheers of the Wallace partisans. Finally, after 15 minutes, Father Groppi, the white Roman Catholic priest who has supervised civil rights protests in Milwaukee for many months, led his youthful protesters quietly into the street.

They remained outside until the rally had ended and Wallace had left through a rear exit accompanied by Secret Service agents and other security guards. Police dispersed the demonstrators without incident.

Two thousand or more Wallace supporters were turned away from the auditorium because it was filled. Some pounded on the doors in protest, then drifted away.

The appearance of the civil rights pickets inside the auditorium after a march from the candidate's hotel—where they had shouted "bigot, bigot"—enraged the partisan Wallace crowd. But, except for two minor incidents of name-calling and an occasional shove, there were no physical encounters.

Earlier in the day, Wallace had disavowed again, as he has many times, any belief in racism. He told a crowd at Springfield, Mo., "the worst bigots in the country are those who call other people bigots."

He expressed the belief that if the police could run the nation for about two years, "they'd straighten it out." But, elaborating to newsmen, he said he did not propose a national police force, merely that police be allowed to "enforce the laws."

HHH on Nixon

SEA GIRT, N. J. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has called Richard M. Nixon "that man who abused Mr. Truman, who heaped scorn on Adlai Stevenson, who fought John Kennedy every step of the way," and who has strongly opposed the efforts of President Johnson.

"I am not concerned about the 'new Nixon' or the 'old Nixon,' what worries me is the real Nixon," Humphrey said Thursday night of his Republican opponent for the presidency.

His reference was to former Presidents Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy and Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for president in 1952 and 1956.

Humphrey called Richard M. Nixon a "Fearless Fodder," charged also that the Republican candidate had made a deal with Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., to block President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

The vice president told some 4,000 persons at a Democratic fund-raising dinner and gala luncheon in the morning for Washington in the morning for a day at his desk before picking up the campaign trail again tonight at Pittsburgh.

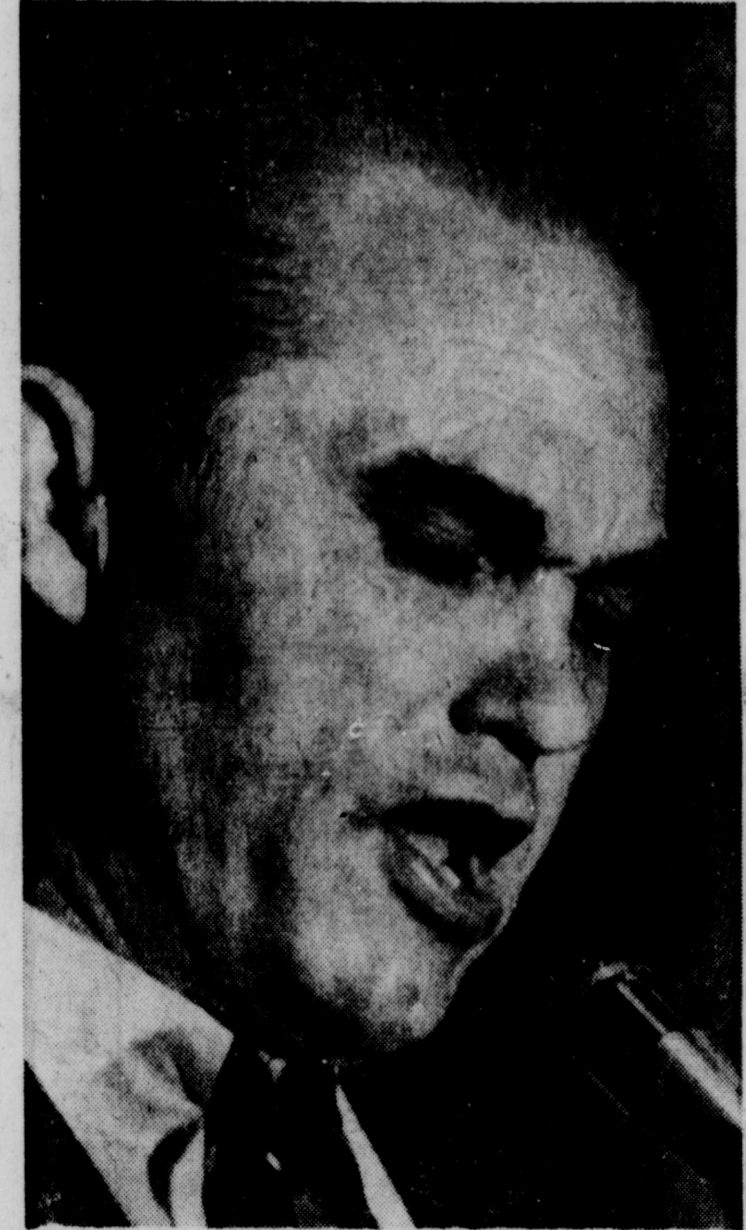

Hughes and other state party leaders were on the platform with Humphrey Thursday night as singers, comedians and others entertained the crowd for nearly two hours.

one of the warmest receptions he had received since he began his national campaign Monday.

Earlier Thursday, in dedicating the second span of the Delaware Memorial Bridge near Wilmington, Del., Humphrey criticized Nixon's suggestion that the Senate delay action on a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

"Delay in the building of the cathedral of peace is not a contribution to peace," Humphrey said. "To say we should delay, I say, is to deny our greatness and in a very serious way to prove we are unworthy of trust."

Originally, Humphrey had planned to spend most of today relaxing at the home of New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes at Seaside Heights, some 20 miles away on the Jersey shore, but decided to fly back to Washington in the morning for a day at his desk before picking up the campaign trail again tonight at Pittsburgh.

Teachers Strike N.Y. Schools Again

NEW YORK (AP) — New same" as Monday, when most New York City teachers struck again of the 900 schools were closed to today and minor disorders were the bulk of the 1.1 million students reported at some schools forced to shut down for a second time this week in the worsening school dispute.

Strike Started

On Monday, the opening of the fall term and the first day of a two-day strike, 41,000 students attended schools and 4,301 of the city's 57,000 teachers went to their classrooms.

Resumption of the strike today followed a charge by the AFL-CIO United Federation of perimental community - controlled Brooklyn district today. Teachers that the city and the Ocean Hill-Brownsville local school board had failed to live up to agreements reached Tuesday.

State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr., who stepped into the city's school crisis Thursday night, was scheduled to start "fact-finding and exploratory sessions" with the feuding teachers and the ex-the union's demand that 10 teachers dismissed by the Ocean Hill-Brownsville district in Brooklyn be reinstated along with 200 teachers who walked out in support of their colleagues.

10 Blocked

A settlement was reached calling for the 10 to be taken back and giving the union new assurances of job protection under the coming citywide school decentralization program.

But when fall term classes finally started on Wednesday demonstrators on the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Brooklyn district first blocked the teachers entry and then they were not assigned to classes.

The UFT promptly charged the settlement had been breached and called the new walkout.

Fortas Sends His Regrets But Won't Appear Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas today "respectfully declined" to appear again before a Senate committee considering his nomination as chief justice.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who began the drive to defeat the Fortas nomination, said "there can be no excuse for this refusal."

In a letter to Committee Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., Fortas said he appeared before the committee initially—despite the lack of precedent—because of his "profound respect for the Senate" and his view "that such appearance might aid the Senate in the performance of its constitutional duty to advise and consent concerning judicial nominations."

"I hope that during the interrogation of me by members of the committee, my respect for the Senate as well as my profound and unshakable devotion to the court and the constitution was evident," the letter said.

"I believe that, now, my proper course of action is respectfully to decline to appear again at the request of some members of the committee for the further interrogation described in your telegram."

The letter was delivered to Eastland's office by Fortas' law clerk, Walter B. Slocombe, who handed the letter to a girl clerk.

Meanwhile, the committee today turned its attention to girlie movies and nude magazines in its inquiry into Fortas' qualifications to be chief justice.

Sgt. Donald Shaidell of the Los Angeles vice squad was subpoenaed and instructed to bring films and literature seized in raids made under local obscenity laws. Many such laws have been overturned by Supreme Court decisions in which Fortas participated.

Shaidell was called before the committee at the insistence of Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a determined opponent of Fortas who has vowed to use every legal means to block his confirmation.

Thurmond and Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., already have succeeded in getting a number of "dirty" movies into the Fortas hearing record. These included such titles as "007," "D-15" and "Flaming Creatures."

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who began the drive to defeat the Fortas nomination, said "there can be no excuse for this refusal."

Fortas, who sat through four days of hostile questioning in July, was invited to answer more questions by the Senate Judiciary Committee about participation in executive and legislative decisions at the White House after he took his seat on the court.

In a letter to Committee Chairman James O. ## 'Intolerable', Says Onteora School Head

Terming the Onteora School District budget problem "an intolerable situation," Superintendent Dr. Harold R. Snyder issued a press release today in which he reiterates statements he made last night at a public hearing at Woodstock School.

Speaking before about 350 persons he said that "the Onteora Board of Education and staff want just as you do, to do everything in their power to clear up this situation."

"As testimony that we will do what we can to correct any mistakes," Dr. Snyder continued, "we have bent the rules on books and fees as far as we feel we can without deliberately flaunting the laws and regulations we must all live with."

"Some people have questioned both the interpretation and the manner in which we have proceeded," he said.

"In all cases, those who have called the state officials have received replies confirming the board's interpretation and administration of contingency."

Must Use Judgment
Dr. Snyder explained further that there are areas where the board has to use its best judgment in applying contingency.

And, there are areas where the board may NOT use its judgment, for these areas are listed specifically as either contingency or not contingency.

"There have been misunderstandings and misstatements of facts, some serious. There has been discourtesy and disrespect and emotional outbursts. There has been childish behavior. Let us be done with that."

Dr. Snyder then pointed out "some facts to consider."

1. "It has been charged that the board has rammed this down people's throats, and that no one knows anything about it, that communication is poor or non-existent."

"We certainly agree that events seem to lend support to these arguments and if any of these charges are true we all want to apologize."

We do have a communications problems, Dr. Snyder said.

"Proof of this was Monday night's hearing and the violent and at times absurd charges made. The board has held 56 public meetings since I came here last August, 17 of which have been to explain the budget. There have been innumerable articles, mailings, radio programs, and yet, we have failed to communicate. We apologize. We will try harder, through citizen's committees, a district newsletter, and any other means you can suggest."

2. "It has been charged that the board and staff are acting spitefully and vindictively — using children to gain their ends and it certainly must seem that way to many people."

Offers Apology
"We are very distressed about this and want to apologize for giving that impression. I think it's important for you to examine the motives of some who make these charges and remember, the Board of Education and administrative staff have 40 children of their own in Onteora schools. The staff numbers at least another 100 children."

"Even if you believe that you would penalize your children, do you think for one moment we would penalize our own children, if we were not bound by law?" he asked.

"If there is a single instance of a teacher or staff member who has misunderstood the regulations, we apologize." The superintendent suggested that those who speak for the budget are for continuance of a fine education program and that those who speak against it are concerned only with taxes — dollars.

"I have my tax bill for the contingency budget as do you," Dr. Snyder concluded. "I know what the difference we are talking about for the new proposal will cost me in dollars. I know what the contingency budget has already cost my son."

"I feel the decision we have to make Sept. 19 on the budget... is a decision between dollars and scholars. I'll cast my vote for the scholars."

Negligent Homicide Charged to Mannello

Immediately after his discharge from Kingston Hospital on Thursday, Allen Mannello, 21, of 149 Spring Street, was arrested on a charge of criminal negligent homicide arising from a double-death traffic accident on River Road in Port Ewen on the night of Sept. 6.

The arrest was made by Sheriff William B. Martin, County Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan.

Mannello, whose address was previously listed as Colonial Gardens, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Esopus Town Justice Charles Montafia on the criminal negligence charge. The defendant had previously been charged by Deputy Jordan with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated and driving a car at a speed not reasonable and prudent. Those charges were withdrawn after the new count was filed.

Judge Montafia released Mannello after a $4,000 property bond was posted. The hearing was tentatively adjourned until Sept. 26 at 1 p. m.

Mannello was the operator of a 1968 coupe which was involved in the Sept. 6 fatality.

Near Completion Of Renting At Rondout

Renting of apartments at Rondout Gardens is expected to be completed early next week according to an announcement by Alexander Yosman, Executive Director of the Kingston Housing Authority. Yosman stated that a joint effort has been made together with the Urban Renewal Agency to contact every person from the two Urban Renewal Areas, who would require an efficiency or a one bedroom apartment, to be sure that residents of these areas would receive first priority for admittance.

If there are any former residents of the Urban Renewal Areas who have not filed or replied to notices, they are urged to do so immediately. If there are any former residents who did not receive a notice from the Housing Authority or the Urban Renewal Agency they are asked to call the Housing Authority office no later than Monday, September 16th.

Although Urban Renewal residents have first priority, it is probable that there would be a number of apartments available for other residents of the city and he strongly urges any family or person residing in the City of Kingston and in need of Housing to file at the Authority office located on Flatbush Avenue.

'Intolerable', Says Onteora School Head

Terming the Onteora School District budget problem "an intolerable situation," Superintendent Dr. Harold R. Snyder issued a press release today in which he reiterates statements he made last night at a public hearing at Woodstock School.

Speaking before about 350 persons he said that "the Onteora Board of Education and staff want just as you do, to do everything in their power to clear up this situation."

"As testimony that we will do what we can to correct any mistakes," Dr. Snyder continued, "we have bent the rules on books and fees as far as we feel we can without deliberately flaunting the laws and regulations we must all live with."

"Some people have questioned both the interpretation and the manner in which we have proceeded," he said.

"In all cases, those who have called the state officials have received replies confirming the board's interpretation and administration of contingency."

Must Use Judgment

Dr. Snyder explained further that there are areas where the board has to use its best judgment in applying contingency.

And, there are areas where the board may NOT use its judgment, for these areas are listed specifically as either contingency or not contingency.

"There have been misunderstandings and misstatements of facts, some serious. There has been discourtesy and disrespect and emotional outbursts. There has been childish behavior. Let us be done with that."

Dr. Snyder then pointed out "some facts to consider."

1. "It has been charged that the board has rammed this down people's throats, and that no one knows anything about it, that communication is poor or non-existent."

"We certainly agree that events seem to lend support to these arguments and if any of these charges are true we all want to apologize."

We do have a communications problems, Dr. Snyder said.

"Proof of this was Monday night's hearing and the violent and at times absurd charges made. The board has held 56 public meetings since I came here last August, 17 of which have been to explain the budget. There have been innumerable articles, mailings, radio programs, and yet, we have failed to communicate. We apologize. We will try harder, through citizen's committees, a district newsletter, and any other means you can suggest."

2. "It has been charged that the board and staff are acting spitefully and vindictively — using children to gain their ends and it certainly must seem that way to many people."

Offers Apology

"We are very distressed about this and want to apologize for giving that impression. I think it's important for you to examine the motives of some who make these charges and remember, the Board of Education and administrative staff have 40 children of their own in Onteora schools. The staff numbers at least another 100 children."

"Even if you believe that you would penalize your children, do you think for one moment we would penalize our own children, if we were not bound by law?" he asked.

"If there is a single instance of a teacher or staff member who has misunderstood the regulations, we apologize."

The superintendent suggested that those who speak for the budget are for continuance of a fine education program and that those who speak against it are concerned only with taxes — dollars.

"I have my tax bill for the contingency budget as do you," Dr. Snyder concluded. "I know what the difference we are talking about for the new proposal will cost me in dollars. I know what the contingency budget has already cost my son."

"I feel the decision we have to make Sept. 19 on the budget... is a decision between dollars and scholars. I'll cast my vote for the scholars."

Negligent Homicide Charged to Mannello

Immediately after his discharge from Kingston Hospital on Thursday, Allen Mannello, 21, of 149 Spring Street, was arrested on a charge of criminal negligent homicide arising from a double-death traffic accident on River Road in Port Ewen on the night of Sept. 6. The arrest was made by Sheriff William B. Martin, County Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan.

Mannello, whose address was previously listed as Colonial Gardens, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Esopus Town Justice Charles Montafia on the criminal negligence charge. The defendant had previously been charged by Deputy Jordan with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated and driving a car at a speed not reasonable and prudent. Those charges were withdrawn after the new count was filed. Judge Montafia released Mannello after a $4,000 property bond was posted. The hearing was tentatively adjourned until Sept. 26 at 1 p. m.

Mannello was the operator of a 1968 coupe which was involved in the Sept. 6 fatality.

Near Completion Of Renting At Rondout

Renting of apartments at Rondout Gardens is expected to be completed early next week according to an announcement by Alexander Yosman, Executive Director of the Kingston Housing Authority. Yosman stated that a joint effort has been made together with the Urban Renewal Agency to contact every person from the two Urban Renewal Areas, who would require an efficiency or a one bedroom apartment, to be sure that residents of these areas would receive first priority for admittance.

If there are any former residents of the Urban Renewal Areas who have not filed or replied to notices, they are urged to do so immediately. If there are any former residents who did not receive a notice from the Housing Authority or the Urban Renewal Agency they are asked to call the Housing Authority office no later than Monday, September 16th.

Although Urban Renewal residents have first priority, it is probable that there would be a number of apartments available for other residents of the city and he strongly urges any family or person residing in the City of Kingston and in need of Housing to file at the Authority office located on Flatbush Avenue.

Columbia Talks About Riots While Students Clash With Police

NEW YORK (UPI)—Members of the radical Students for a Democratic Society clashed with Columbia University campus police Thursday when the dissident students tried to force their way into a hall where faculty members were meeting. A crowd of about 200 students and bystanders, who had attended an SDS rally at the Sunday in the center of the campus, surged toward the McMillin Theater, where some 800 teachers were discussing means of avoiding new disorders during the coming school year. The clash occurred two weeks before the opening of the fall term. Security guards stopped the crowd at the Broadway entrance to the theater. The faculty offered to send a spokesman to address the demonstrators, but they insisted on entering the building.

"If they won't let us in, we won't let them out!" one youth shouted, but SDS leader Stuart Gidal vetoed the idea of a blockade.

"There's 10 ways in and out of there," he said. When a second attempt to crowd into the theater failed, the demonstrators moved on to the School of International Affairs, which was headed by Andrew W. Cordier until he became acting president of the university last month. There the crowd listened to speeches charging that Columbia's military research contracts linked the university with the Central Intelligence Agency.

Demands for Columbia's withdrawal from the Institute for Defense Analyses, a government agency, was a general cause of SDS-led outbreaks at the university last spring.

The SDS called its rally to demand that the university drop criminal charges against students arrested during the spring outbreak of violence and reinstate SDS leader Mark Rudd and 29 other students who were suspended.

COLUMBIA DEMONSTRATION — Students try to rip the jacket off a Columbia University security official as they try to storm McMillin Theatre, where Columbia's voting faculty was holding a meeting aimed at preventing student disturbances such as the ones that ripped the campus last spring. ## Czech Parliament Seen Passing Several 'Rubber Stamp' Laws

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovakia's parliament met today to quash the remnants of this country's experiment in democracy.

Political sources said the assembly would grant "rubber stamp" approval to laws creating prior news censorship, banning nonapproved public meetings, suppressing political opposition and forbidding travel to the West.

In addition, the 300-member parliament will announce the resignation of Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, informed Czechoslovak sources said. Hajek is quitting under heavy Soviet pressure because he deplored the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia in the United Nations. The parliamentary session began at 4 a.m., EDT.

Parliament has not changed membership since the Stalinist regime of Antonin Novotny. Czechoslovak political observers said its meeting today would approve each new law with a mere show of debate.

Russian leaders have demanded the hard-line crackdown as part of the "normalization" process following the Aug. 20 invasion. In return, they promised to withdraw most of their forces.

Alexander Dubcek, the architect of Czechoslovakia's liberalization, told a Communist party meeting in Prague Thursday night his government wants to fulfill the demands "honorably, consistently and without cunning."

Dubcek came to power in January as first secretary of the Communist party. The new regime relaxed news censorship and travel bans and instituted a series of liberal political reforms.

Foremost among the measures to reverse the liberal trend was one calling for prior censorship—requiring the news media to submit their news copy to government censors before publication or broadcast.

Other items on the agenda included "temporary measures for ensuring public order"—which meant laws aimed at preventing public gatherings not approved by the government.

Red Army Increases In Eastern Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say intelligence reports indicate the Soviet Union has built up its army in Eastern Europe to more than 50 divisions, about twice the number maintained by the West on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

While the Soviet divisions are said to be in a very high state of readiness, some NATO divisions are below strength and lacking in sustained logistics support, by U.S. standards.

U.S. intelligence reports, charting Soviet moves connected with the occupation of Czechoslovakia, have sparked deep concern that the balance of power in Eastern and Central Europe has shifted against the West.

Talking About Threats Officials stress they are talking about the threat in terms of Soviet capability rather than any Russian intent to attack.

Before the Russians led a Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 20, the Soviet Union maintained 20 divisions in East Germany, two in Poland and four in Hungary.

NATO nations arrayed a total of 24 divisions in and near West Germany. France, no longer part of NATO, nonetheless contributed to Western military strength with two divisions in West Germany.

While the figures vary from nation to nation, a Soviet division contains about 10,000 men. An American division has about 15,000 men, exclusive of support troops.

Some of the Russian divisions invading Czechoslovakia came from East Germany and Poland, others from the Soviet Union itself.

According to the latest U.S. intelligence analysis, Russia now has 17 divisions in Czechoslovakia where there were none before the invasion.

Six of these divisions are deployed within striking distance of the Czech-West German border, which until Soviet occupation was manned only by Czech guards.

U.S. military authorities say the Russians are now astride a main avenue of approach to such important German cities as Munich and Nuremberg.

Ten Russian divisions have been stationed in Poland, where only two were placed before Aug. 20.

Meanwhile, Russian divisions also have been shipped to East Germany to restore the 20-division force which the Soviet Union has kept in that satellite for many years.

At Full Strength In addition to the forward movement of perhaps 26 or 27 Russian divisions from the Soviet Union, U.S. intelligence has learned that some of the supporting divisions well back inside Russia have been brought up to full strength.

Normally, many of these rear area divisions are staffed at less than war level strength.

Still another measure which U.S. intelligence noted with concern was mobilization of Russian supply and other support services reaching back into the Soviet Union—a necessary action to support a major forward deployment of the army.

Egyptian, Israeli Forces in Suez Clash

Egyptian and Israeli forces battled across the Suez Canal today for the first time since the artillery duel that killed 32 persons last Sunday, sources at the front reported.

Cairo radio said other Egyptian gunners drove off two Israeli warplanes and Egypt had ordered its troops on alert.

The sources said opposing forces opened fire at 10:35 a.m. at Ballah, midway between Israeli-occupied Kantara and Egyptian Ismailia in the center of the northern canal segment.

The Egyptian government issued no communiqué. Cairo radio said two Israeli reconnaissance fighter planes "spying out Arab forces in the canal area" were driven off by antiaircraft fire at 10:30 a.m. It did not disclose the location.

The reported battle erupted after the editor of the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al

Ahram called for a military solution to the Mideast conflict and military analysts in London reported Egypt's war arsenal had been almost fully replenished by Soviet military shipments.

Hassanein Haikal called for Arab troops to sweep the Israelis out of occupied territories, including the east bank of the Suez Canal that exploded in 5½ hours of artillery fighting Sunday at a loss of 32 lives.

Haikal's call to arms came as a London-based military study group published estimates that the Soviet Union has replaced nearly all the Arab armaments destroyed by Israel in the six-day June war last year.

The institute's analysts, who estimate there are about 3,000 Russian "advisers" in Egypt and Syria, hold that it will take Egypt up to two years to become battle ready.

Gut Issues of Campaign

The last state primaries of the year involving party nominations for the U.S. Senate and House, in nine states from New Hampshire to Arizona, are widespread enough to give some idea of the way people feel about the gut issues of this campaign—the Vietnam war, law and order and, in the case of the Democrats, party reform.

The bitter split in the Democratic party over these issues was the decisive factor in a number of these states. It was almost as deep as the one that followed the national convention and left McCarthy adherents outside the fold, where their return is essential for Humphrey's success. For that reason, these primaries were closely watched by both parties for clues to the way the political winds are blowing eight weeks before the elections.

For instance, in Maryland's Fifth Congressional District, adjoining the District of Columbia, there were eight contestants for the House seat. They ranged from two contenders who endorsed the bid of George C. Wallace of Alabama to a young university professor who ran as an avowed liberal and a supporter of Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, who of course was eliminated at Chicago. Nevertheless, his followers apparently are strong enough to put his philosophy on the line as their own.

Others include the incumbent, who boasts he has backed the Johnson Administration on most issues in the last four years; a former member of Congress who, though endorsing Hubert H. Humphrey for President, backed the antiwar plank at Chicago; a state legislator who says "until we solve the problem of crime in the streets, we won't be able to accomplish anything" and who charged that riots are deliberately provoked by tiny minority copying techniques used by revolutionaries in Cuba, Communist China and Southeast Asia.

In varying degrees, these are the issues the other states faced, including Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Maryland, Vermont and Utah. In Arizona, there was also the comeback attempt of Barry Goldwater, unopposed in the Republican primary for his bid to return to the Senate. But the thing to watch for in all these belated primaries was the drawing power of the stands they take on the gut issues and the presidential candidates they espouse.

Registration Dates

Registration for the general election on November 5 will be held at each polling place in the city of Kingston and County of Ulster on the following dates:

Saturday, Sept. 28
12 noon to 10 p. m.
Friday, Oct. 4
6 a. m. to 12 noon
Saturday, Oct. 5
12 noon to 10 p. m.

The Government urged turkey growers to cut down on production to head off severe market price declines, and they reduced their flocks by one-sixth to 107 million birds. Now there still is one for each two persons in the country, and few can eat a half turkey. So the Department of Agriculture bought some 23 million pounds of frozen turkey to help bolster the market, but that took only two million birds, and what are they among 107 million? Turkey is going to be plentiful and inexpensive again this year.

Federal Anti-Riot Law Flagrantly Disregarded

WASHINGTON — Each of the platforms adopted at the two national conventions emphasizes the responsibility of state and local governments in dealing with crime and lawlessness. Only incidentally, however, are there references to the federal government, and these are mostly concerned with financial assistance or troops in the event of an emergency.

What apparently was lost sight of is the flagrant disregard of existing federal laws which specify punishment for those individuals who cross state lines and instigate "demonstrations" that lead to violence.

Representative Roman C. Pucinski, Democrat, of Illinois called on August 31 for a federal grand jury investigation of "out-of-state" who, he alleged, had traveled to Chicago "to incite mass riots during the Democratic National Convention." The Congressman said he had written to Attorney General Clark asking "stiff federal jail sentences against those who crossed state lines in instigate riots in Chicago."

Since that time, William J. Campbell, Chief Judge of the U.S. District Court of Northern Illinois, has ordered a sweeping Grand Jury investigation of the disorders during the Democratic convention, including charges of "an interstate conspiracy to promote riot" and of violation of the Civil Rights of anti-war protesters by police.

This has been followed up by Representative William Cramer, Republican, of Florida who on Wednesday demanded that the Attorney General prosecute under the new federal anti-riot law those who engaged in violent clashes with the police in Chicago during the convention. Mr. Cramer, author of the act, said "certain individuals" violated the law when they announced in advance that they intended to cause violence, crossed state lines with that intention, and then actually committed violence. He added:

"This is a clear breach of the federal anti-riot law and the failure of the Justice Department to apprehend and prosecute those lawbreakers is unconscionable."

There has been quibbling, moreover, about the use of the words "law and order." Senator Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, Republican, who is a Negro and a former attorney general of his state, mentioned racial overtones as possibly linked to the phrase. He thinks it would be better for Republicans to call for "order with justice" to describe the issue of crime in the streets, instead of "law and order."

Actually, both national platforms are positive in their statements about the importance of preserving "order," even though they do not define federal responsibility in meeting the problem. The Republican plank says:

"We call on public officials at the federal, state and local levels to enforce our laws with firmness and fairness. We recognize that respect for law and order flows naturally from a just society; while demanding protection of the public peace and safety, we pledge a relentless attack on economic and social injustice in every form."

Nomination System Works Despite McCarthy's Claims

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

The winter meetings of the Republican and Democratic National Committees may give at least preliminary consideration to the now bipartisan proposals for reform of nominating processes for the presidency.

Most of these strike at visible weaknesses in the convention system and suggest either major renovation or scrapping in favor of a nationwide primary.

Any useful reforms obviously will have to be founded on careful deliberations with a full airing of the best available scholarly judgments on the alternatives. The attractive prospect of a national primary, for instance, involves such serious matters as immense cost, great expenditure of candidates' time and energy, and the question whether it might discriminate against the less well-known candidates.

But before the argument for reform can reach this detached level, the issue needs to be separated from the distorting emotionalism which surrounds the two 1968 conventions and most particularly the Democratic meeting at Chicago.

Disappointed supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy are trying to suggest that the convention system failed because it did not produce victory for him.

McCarthy himself lent encouragement to this kind of thinking throughout the campaign by presenting his candidacy as if it were some final test of democracy's workability.

His admirably eager young followers, plunging into politics for the first time, found the senator's view contagious and were spurred on by a theme styled by one observer as: "I participate. Therefore, I will win."

Once he was beaten, McCarthy offered himself to antiwar demonstrators in Chicago's Grant Park as spokesman for "the government in exile." Though this sally could be dismissed as a typical bit of McCarthy "wit," it underscored the consistently cultivated notion that any convention victor other than he would inevitably be tinged with illegitimacy.

Some of McCarthy's supporters, and some seasoned political observers who ought to know better, have gone so far as to suggest that the demonstrators' "Battle of Michigan Avenue" and a series of rigid security measures quite irrelevant to the nominating process somehow prove the unworkability of the convention

The Democrats avoided the phrase "law and order," and entitled their platform plank "justice and law." But they pledged "a vigorous and sustained campaign against lawlessness in all its forms," and added:

"When the dissenter resorts to violence, he erodes the institutions and values which are the underpinnings of our democratic society. We must not and will not tolerate violence."

The real issue is not brought into perspective in either platform plank. For much of the trouble with the problem of "law and order" or "justice and law" is the failure of governmental authorities at all levels to prosecute persons who are directly or indirectly responsible for plotting the lawlessness in their communities. Many of the statements that help to provoke disorder are printed widely in the press—as Judge Campbell noted when he called for a grand jury investigation in Chicago. Leaders of "demonstrations" have been quoted as they uttered threats of revolutionary tactics.

The federal government collects a great deal of information about the plots to provoke disorderly "demonstrations." But there seems to be a reluctance by the Department of Justice to ask that grand juries be summoned to indict those who appear to be violating existing laws. Indications are that this may become an important issue in the presidential campaign.

system and the fraudulence of its 1968 result.

The fact is, of course, that major polls this summer showed Vice President Humphrey, not McCarthy, as the favorite of rank-and-file Democrats in the nation. Having lost six of the eight contested primaries he entered, McCarthy had no overriding voter evidence to offer as an offset.

Indeed, the 601 delegate votes the senator collected on the only Chicago ballot were a more than reasonable reflection of the campaign effort he put forth and party voters' interest in him. Probably 200 or more of his votes, especially in California and New York, would have gone to Robert F. Kennedy had he lived.

Long before Chicago, McCarthy's managers knew they had failed to build winning delegate strength by the usual means. Their cries of unfairness, their call for changing the rules in the middle of the game, and their stress on the Vietnam platform plank were all devices aimed at achieving by quick psychological stroke the victory they could not win by normal political effort.

Whatever the system's shortcomings, Hubert Humphrey (like Richard Nixon) used it fully and fairly to gain legitimate triumph. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Drew Pearson Says Exclusive Interview With The President of Rumania

President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania has given this exclusive interview to Drew Pearson. It is his first talk with any newspaperman since Romania was threatened by a Red Army invasion.

BUCHAREST, Romania — "The world must renounce force and dismantle its armies if there is to be peace in the world. Small nations must not be constantly subjected to the tension created by the maneuvering armies of their neighbors."

This is the view of Nicolae Ceausescu, President of Romania, the little country most exposed to the Red Army following the Russian move into Czechoslovakia.

Even as Ceausescu spoke there were rumors that three Russian divisions had entered neighboring Bulgaria. The rumors sent western military attaches scurrying over to Bulgaria to locate the troops, which they failed to do. Apparently the rumors were groundless, but they sent jitters through the Romanian government.

Earlier, when faced with the possibility of a Russian invasion, Ceausescu had rallied his country with a stirring speech, enlisted 60,000 "young patriots" to defend Romania, mobilized the army, and made it clear that any invader would meet protracted guerrilla warfare.

Land Armies

Without referring to this threat Ceausescu told me that long-range peace depends on dismantling land armies.

"In many parts of Europe," he said, "armed maneuvers and the talk of force create a psychology of tension. Tension disrupts a nation, hurts business, slows investments. Furthermore, an accident could happen which could set the world on fire. The consequences could be very heavy. That is why renouncing force is so essential for peace."

"The two great powers—the United States and Soviet Russia — should set an example to the rest of the world. The press can help, too. You must create a public demand for dismantling armed forces."

I suggested to Ceausescu that perhaps he was too young to remember it, but Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State under President Coolidge, had negotiated the Kellogg-Briand Pact to outlaw war. I remembered it well because I had accompanied Kellogg to Paris for the signing ceremony. Hitler and Mussolini, I recalled, tore up the pact.

"That does not mean we should not keep on trying," Ceausescu replied. "Despite setbacks the world does move ahead."

Vietnam

"I told Averell Harriman that the United States was spending $30 billion in Vietnam and all it was gaining was more enemies — even in South Vietnam. If you invest even part of this money in peaceful purposes what a better world this would be!"

"Romania is a small country," continued Ceausescu. "We have a population of only 20 million. We have passed through many difficulties. For several hundred years we were under foreign rule (he was referring to the Turkish conquest of the Balkans). This is why we prize our liberty, and are ready to fight for it. We want freedom, not subjugation."

"But we are striving for cooperation with our neighbors. We know that good relations with them are necessary and we have worked to that end. The results so far have been good."

The Romanian president did not mention the Soviet Union although, obviously, he had in mind Russia, which is directly to the north and the most powerful neighbor. Romania's other neighbors include Hungary to the west and Bulgaria to the south. Both supplied troops for the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

"Cooperation with our neighbors has been fully supported by all our people," Ceausescu continued. "We wish to develop independently, but at the same time maintain our alliances with our socialist neighbors. We want to develop full cooperation with the United States, too. In this spirit we will proceed in the future."

Prison

Ceausescu is 50 years old but, aside from graying hair, looks younger. He spent most of World War II in a Romanian prison, placed there by the Nazi occupation forces because he was considered too pro-Russian. As President of Romania,

Ceausescu has followed a more independent foreign policy than any other Communist country, maintaining friendly relations with both Red China and the United States. Romania learned a lesson from the Czechs regarding criticism of Russia, and its press has been discreet. But in the United Nations, where Romania's Foreign Minister, Maescu is president of the General Assembly, Romania differed sharply from the Soviets in the Arab-Israel war and has followed its own foreign policy in other matters.

Though seeking more trade with the United States and willing to pay cash for American products, Romania has not received much reciprocity from American business. After it signed a contract with Firestone Rubber for a petrochemical plant, Goodrich commented unfavorably regarding the transaction, which touched off a boycott of Firestone products by the Rightwing Young Americans for Freedom. They raised such a protest that Firestone backed out of the contract.

I asked Ceausescu about this and whether Romania had any plans for further negotiations. He replied that the Romanian chemical industry was developing its own knowhow, independent of American companies, and while it was a little slower, it was progressing. Romanian economic growth, meanwhile, continues to be one of the highest in the world, topped only by Japan.

China

When I asked Ceausescu's advice on relations with Red China, he replied, "China is a country which cannot be ignored. The world's problems cannot be solved without China, and events clearly indicate this. With every passing year China becomes more powerful economically and militarily. That is why normalization of U.S. — Chinese relations would be a step toward peace. This, of course, depends on a review of certain policies, particularly your policy of two Chinas and China's admission to the United Nations."

(More on the extraordinary development of Romania as a member of the socialist bloc — yet independent of Russia — will follow in another column.)

Rep. Gallagher Denies Liaison With Gangster

WASHINGTON — The back-alley relationship between Rep. Cornelius Gallagher and racketeer Joe Zicarelli, two disparate men from opposite sides of the track in Bayonne, N.J., isn't altogether unique.

Justice Department files name at least two other Congressmen who allegedly have pipelines into the underworld. They are Reps. John Kluczynski, D-Ill., and Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio.

Others who have left Capitol Hill — including ex-Senator Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who now wants to come back — were on speaking terms with gangland figures.

FBI reports state that Kluczynski has had contact, on occasion, with hoods from the Chicago underworld. Fred Ackerman, an informant who has helped the FBI make cases against underworld loan sharks, told the FBI that he had been a middleman between gangsters and Kluczynski.

Ackerman alleged that two hoods, whom he identified as Louis Derrigi and Anthony "Puleo" DeRosa, had asked him in 1965 to seek the Congressman's intervention in fixing an accused man's bond. Judge James Parsons had revoked the bond, according to Ackerman, and the underworld was willing to pay $10,000 to get the decision reversed.

Ackerman stated that he had explained the proposition to Kluczynski in a long-distance call, but that the Congressman was reluctant to talk about it on the phone. Instead, he instructed Ackerman to come to Washington to discuss the details. The trip was called off the last minute, Ackerman said, because lawyers had made other arrangements.

Kluczynski denied to this column that he had ever dealt with the underworld. He pointed out that a Congressman, because of the nature of politics, is approached by all sorts. But if anyone from the underworld had contacted him, he insisted, he was unaware of the individual's connections.

He also denied Ackerman's story. "I read about this Ackerman in the newspapers," said Kluczynski. "I met him two or three times. He played the accordion."

The Congressman paused, then added: "Freddie Ackerman was the adopted son of a friend of mine, I never spoke with his kid."

Kirwan and Killer

As for Kirwan, there is no disputing Justice Department records, which show that the Congressman introduced a private bill to save racketeer Frank Cammarata from exile. The Sicilian-born Cammarata is a graduate of Detroit's infamous Purple Gang. In the Justice Department's rogues' gallery, he is described as "a killer, holdup man and narcotics distributor."

Congress, however, failed to share Kirwan's benevolent attitude toward the mobster, who finally skipped to Cuba in order to avoid deportation to Italy.

But of all the gangland-Capitol Hill links, the most startling was Goldwater's strange friendship with two of the underworld's most unsavory characters, Willie Bioff and Gus Greenbaum. Both left this world in classic gangland style. Bioff was blown to bits by a bomb attached to the starter of his pickup truck, and Greenbaum's truck was expertly slit by underworld killers as he lounged in bed in beige silk pajamas.

The investigation of the Bioff murder developed the curious fact that, on the eve of the crime, the racketeer had accompanied Goldwater in his private plane from Las Vegas to Phoenix. Goldwater was also numbered among the mourners at Greenbaum's funeral.

Life's Scoop

Incidentally, this column began investigating the Gallagher-Zicarelli association two months before Life magazine broke the story. Life conducted a far more thorough investigation than we had been able to complete, and deserves a Pulitzer Prize for its journalistic enterprise.

After the Life article appeared, Attorney General Ramsey Clark called a press conference to deny any knowledge of Gallagher's dealings with the mobster. Clark also denied that the Justice Department had any record of the tapped telephone conversations between Gallagher and Zicarelli.

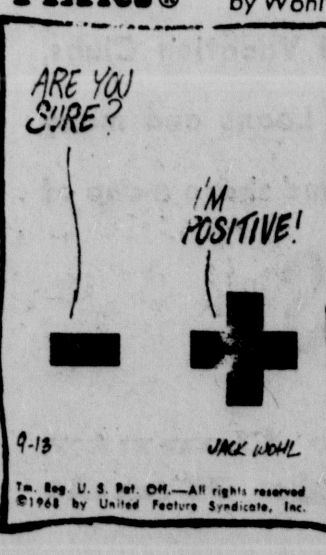

It is true that federal agents had no part in the wiretapping. Zicarelli used a pay phone in Manhattan's Park Royal hotel, where the gangster hung out. The calls were monitored by New York authorities.

This column can state categorically, however, that the Attorney General received detailed FBI reports on the Gallagher-Zicarelli association. These included an amazing statement from an underworld triggerman, Harold "Kayo" Konigsberg that he had been summoned to remove a body from Gallagher's basement. Konigsberg identified the dead man as Barney O'Brien, a small-time shylock. This same Konigsberg led the FBI to the notorious Cosa Nostra graveyard on a New Jersey chicken farm.

When this column confronted Gallagher with these allegations, he vigorously denied them. Life magazine later published the story in documented detail.

Note: Justice Department files are filled with reports of gangland-political connections, success stories of politicians and policemen made suddenly wealthy, tales of payoffs and bribes. This corruption, however, is almost always found on a local level. The worst places for connivance between local authorities and crime bosses, according to the files, are Lake County, Ind., Columbus, Ohio, Hot Springs, Ark., Hudson County, N.J., and Brooklyn, N.Y.

Gut Issues of Campaign

The last state primaries of the year involving party nominations for the U.S. Senate and House, in nine states from New Hampshire to Arizona, are widespread enough to give some idea of the way people feel about the gut issues of this campaign—the Vietnam war, law and order and, in the case of the Democrats, party reform.

The bitter split in the Democratic party over these issues was the decisive factor in a number of these states. It was almost as deep as the one that followed the national convention and left McCarthy adherents outside the fold, where their return is essential for Humphrey's success. For that reason, these primaries were closely watched by both parties for clues to the way the political winds are blowing eight weeks before the elections.

In varying degrees, these are the issues the other states faced, including Arizona, Colorado, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Maryland, Vermont and Utah. In Arizona, there was also the comeback attempt of Barry Goldwater, unopposed in the Republican primary for his bid to return to the Senate. But the thing to watch for in all these belated primaries was the drawing power of the stands they take on the gut issues and the presidential candidates they espouse.

Registration Dates

Registration for the general election on November 5 will be held at each polling place in the city of Kingston and County of Ulster on the following dates:

12 noon to 10 p. m.
Friday, Oct. 4
6 a. m. to 12 noon

Prison

Ceausescu is 50 years old but, aside from graying hair, looks younger. He spent most of World War II in a Romanian prison, placed there by the Nazi occupation forces because he was considered too pro-Russian. As President of Rumania, Ceausescu has followed a more independent foreign policy than any other Communist country, maintaining friendly relations with both Red China and the United States. Romania learned a lesson from the Czechs regarding criticism of Russia, and its press has been discreet. But in the United Nations, where Romania's Foreign Minister, Maescu is president of the General Assembly, Romania differed sharply from the Soviets in the Arab-Israeli war and has followed its own foreign policy in other matters.

Though seeking more trade with the United States and willing to pay cash for American products, Romania has not received much reciprocity from American business. After it signed a contract with Firestone Rubber for a petrochemical plant, Goodrich commented unfavorably regarding the transaction, which touched off a boycott of Firestone products by the rightwing Young Americans for Freedom. They raised such a protest that Firestone backed out of the contract.

I asked Ceausescu about this and whether Romania had any plans for further negotiations. He replied that the Romanian chemical industry was developing its own knowhow, independent of American companies, and while it was a little slower, it was progressing. Romanian economic growth, meanwhile, continues to be one of the highest in the world, topped only by Japan.

China

When I asked Ceausescu's advice on relations with Red China, he replied, "China is a country which cannot be ignored. The world's problems cannot be solved without China, and events clearly indicate this. With every passing year China becomes more powerful economically and militarily. That is why normalization of U.S.—Chinese relations would be a step toward peace. This, of course, depends on a review of certain policies, particularly your policy of two Chinas and China's admission to the United Nations."

(More on the extraordinary development of Romania as a member of the socialist bloc—yet independent of Russia—will follow in another column.)

Rep. Gallagher Denies Liaison With Gangster

WASHINGTON — The back-alley relationship between Rep. Cornelius Gallagher and racketeer Joe Zicarelli, two disparate men from opposite sides of the track in Bayonne, N.J., isn't altogether unique.

Justice Department files name at least two other Congressmen who allegedly have pipelines into the underworld. They are Reps. John Kluczynski, D-Ill., and Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio. Others who have left Capitol Hill—including ex-Senator Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who now wants to come back—were on speaking terms with gangland figures.

FBI reports state that Kluczynski has had contact, on occasion, with hoods from the Chicago underworld. Fred Ackerman, an informant who has helped the FBI make cases against underworld loan sharks, told the FBI that he had been a middleman between gangsters and Kluczynski.

Ackerman alleged that two hoods, whom he identified as Louis Derrigi and Anthony "Puleo" DeRosa, had asked him in 1965 to seek the Congressman's intervention in fixing an accused man's bond. Judge James Parsons had revoked the bond, according to Ackerman, and the underworld was willing to pay $10,000 to get the decision reversed.

Ackerman stated that he had explained the proposition to Kluczynski in a long-distance call, but that the Congressman was reluctant to talk about it on the phone. Instead, he instructed Ackerman to come to Washington to discuss the details. The trip was called off the last minute. Ackerman said, because lawyers had made other arrangements.

Kluczynski denied to this column that he had ever dealt with the underworld. He pointed out that a Congressman, because of the nature of politics, is approached by all sorts. But if anyone from the underworld had contacted him, he insisted, he was unaware of the individual's connections.

He also denied Ackerman's story.

"I read about this Ackerman in the newspapers," said Kluczynski. "I met him two or three times. He played the accordion."

The Congressman paused, then added: "Freddie Ackerman was the adopted son of a friend of mine, I never spoke with his kid."

Kirwan and Killer

As for Kirwan, there is no disputing Justice Department records, which show that the Congressman introduced a private bill to save racketeer Frank Cammarata from exile. The Sicilian-born Cammarata is a graduate of Detroit's infamous Purple Gang. In the Justice Department's rogues' gallery, he is described as "a killer, holdup man and narcotics distributor."

Congress, however, failed to share Kirwan's benevolent attitude toward the mobster, who finally skipped to Cuba in order to avoid deportation to Italy.

But of all the gangland-Capitol Hill links, the most startling was Goldwater's strange friendship with two of the underworld's most unsavory characters, Willie Bioff and Gus Greenbaum. Both left this world in classic gangland style. Bioff was blown to bits by a bomb attached to the starter of his pickup truck, and Greenbaum's throat was expertly slit by underworld killers as he lounged in bed in beige silk pajamas.

The investigation of the Bioff murder developed the curious fact that, on the eve of the crime, the racketeer had accompanied Goldwater in his private plane from Las Vegas to Phoenix. Goldwater was also numbered among the mourners at Greenbaum's funeral.

Life's Scoop

Incidentally, this column began investigating the Gallagher-Zicarelli association two months before Life magazine broke the story. Life conducted a far more thorough investigation than we had been able to complete, and deserves a Pulitzer Prize for its journalistic enterprise.

After the Life article appeared, Attorney General Ramsey Clark called a press conference to deny any knowledge of Gallagher's dealings with the mobster. Clark also denied that the Justice Department had any record of the tapped telephone conversations between Gallagher and Zicarelli.

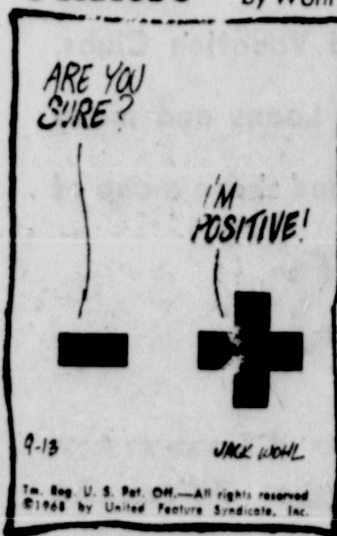

It is true that federal agents had no part in the wiretapping. Zicarelli used a pay phone in Manhattan's Park Royal hotel, where the gangster hung out. The calls were monitored by New York authorities.

This column can state categorically, however, that the Attorney General received detailed FBI reports on the Gallagher-Zicarelli association. These included an amazing statement from an underworld triggerman, Harold "Kayo" Konigsberg that he had been summoned to remove a body from Gallagher's basement. Konigsberg identified the dead man as Barney O'Brien, a small-time shylock. This same Konigsberg led the FBI to the notorious Cosa Nostra graveyard on a New Jersey chicken farm.

When this column confronted Gallagher with these allegations, he vigorously denied them. Life magazine later published the story in documented detail.

Note: Justice Department files are filled with reports of gangland-political connections, success stories of politicians and policemen made suddenly wealthy, tales of payoffs and bribes. This corruption, however, is almost always found on a local level. The worst places for connivance between local authorities and crime bosses, according to the files, are Lake County, Ind., Columbus, Ohio, Hot Springs, Ark., Hudson County, N.J., and Brooklyn, N.Y.

Priests and Church

Showdown Expected Soon on Pill

By WILLARD H. MOBLEY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The conflict between Washington's Roman Catholic officialdom and a group of priests over the right of church members to use artificial birth controls appears headed for a showdown with a settlement deadline only one day away.

On its face, the dispute involves only Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle and 51 priests within the Washington diocese who disagree publicly with Pope Paul VI's edict against the use of mechanical contraceptives.

But the split mirrors a church-wide division over whether Catholics are bound by the Vatican edict or, the priests maintain, can ignore the pronouncement on the grounds that birth control is a matter of personal conscience.

Here is the setting: —The 51 priests and some theologians adopted a statement holding that Catholic couples may responsibly decide according to their consciences that artificial contraception is permissible in some circumstances.

—The cardinal directed them to give up that stand and accept the Pope's ruling fully. He gave them until Saturday to recant and mentioned the possibility of canonical penalties for those who do not.

—As if to emphasize his point the cardinal dismissed the Rev.

T. Joseph O'Donoghue as assistant pastor of a Washington church for delivering a sermon Aug. 4 quoting high church officials who disagree with the encyclical.

—In another action the trustees of Catholic University asked last week that a panel be appointed to investigate whether 18 teachers have violated their responsibility to the university by publicly dissenting on the issue.

Neither side has budged and nothing was settled in a two-hour closed-door session Tuesday to which Cardinal O'Boyle summoned the 51 priests by telegram. Some 40 of them showed up.

A spokesman for the dissenters reported there was only "discussion" and the priests were "not able to judge what he (O'Boyle) might do."

Later the Rev. Mr. O'Donoghue, addressing a meeting of supporters, said it was up to them to band together to protect their viewpoint. He suggested, that "even Cardinal O'Boyle can be reached by a petition."

One of his former parishioners said he had collected 353 signatures during masses protesting "unjust punishment" of O'Donoghue.

The cardinal followed up on Wednesday with release of a sternly worded statement saying he condemns as "erroneous, scandalous and offensive to faithful Catholics" the voices of dissent from the Pope's ruling.

Committee Slates Hearing On Rt. 199 in Pine Plains

John Colburn, president of the Northern Dutchess Development Committee, announced that a public hearing will be held Saturday, Sept. 21, in the Pine Plains School auditorium at 1:30 p.m. to discuss the progress, or lack of progress, in correcting road conditions on Route 199.

J. Burch McMorran, head of the State Department of Transportation, Nicholas Sinacore, state highway district supervisor for Dutchess and Columbia Counties, Victor Waryas, state assemblyman and member of the Assembly Transportation Committee, Jay Rolison, state senator, and David Schoentag, Dutchess County executive, have been invited to participate.

Also invited are county and town planning officials from Northern Dutchess and Southern Columbia Counties, town supervisors, county representatives, mayors, school board officials and other members of the community interested in abating losses caused by accidents on Route 199.

Also expected to be discussed is the issue of redesignation of Route 199 as an extension of federal Route 209 and the possibility of additional federal funds as a result.

Colburn stated that Route 199 is the only east-west artery in the Northern Dutchess-Southern Columbia area. The twisting, hilly road has been the scene of innumerable accidents and

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Public colleges in New York State outgained private colleges by a 2-1 margin in new enrollment this fall.

The State Education Department said Thursday that enrollment in public colleges jumped by 26,000 to a total of 373,000 students. Enrollment in private colleges increased by 10,000 to a total of 342,000.

Probe Cause
Of High Woods
Dwelling Fire

Police and fire officials are investigating a mysterious fire which leveled a one-story frame unoccupied dwelling in High Woods during the early morning hours of Wednesday. No alarm was sounded and the fire was discovered by mailman Barry Craft on his early rounds. Saugerties Town Police Chief Charles Riley said the home, owned by Mrs. Francis Knuth, in a secluded area on the Phillips Road in High Woods, was unoccupied at the time of the blaze. The only house nearby is about 500 feet distance from the scene. Apparently no one saw the blaze and it was not reported to Centerville Fire Department.

The fire must have been in progress during the heavy rainfall which saved the wooded area nearby, Chief Riley said. Fire Chief Edward H. Ricks of the Centerville Department said Thursday that the cause of the fire is under investigation.

Dyson Urges Decisive Action
To Fight Crime and Its Causes

"The time has come to take strong and decisive action to fight crime and all its underlying causes, and to make all of our citizens safe on the streets and in their homes," declared John Dyson, Democratic Congressional candidate, speaking before the Hudson Valley Carpenters Union at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

In his third white paper dealing with the issues of today, Dyson stated: "I find it shocking that every American citizen will at one time or another in his life be a victim of crime. While our population has been slowly growing by 1.5 per cent each year, the crime rate has tripled since 1940. Crime in America affects all of us. Victims of crime are both rich and poor, old and young, black and white, male and female. Nor does crime respect party label. The crime rate in America continues to grow dramatically under both Democratic and Republican mayors, governors and presidents. The rising rate of crime and violence is intolerable."

More Police — The Millbrook publisher's paper pointed out: "Because large numbers of visible and mobile police patrolling sidewalks and streets are a deterrent to crime, we must enlarge our police forces. Two-thirds of the departments in medium sized American cities are below their authorized personnel strength. There must be greater incentives to induce qualified men and women to join the police. Starting and maximum salaries must be competitive with other professions and occupations. Promotions must not be based on seniority alone, but also on scores of competitive examinations, prior performance, character, educational achievement and leadership."

New Paltz Will Post
Restrictions on Dogs

By CHARLES BERMPOHL — The New Paltz Town Board met on Wednesday night and Supervisor Anthony Moriello read a letter from the State Department of Audit and Control stating that the town can post dog restrictions in certain heavily populated areas.

Moriello had taken the action of writing the audit and control department after area residents had complained of dog packs roaming through the residential areas.

It had been feared that if a dog ordinance were passed, it would have to be uniform for the township.

The ruling by the audit and control department appeared to eliminate that fear.

The township may not, however, meet with the same kind of cooperation it seeks from another state agency, that of the State Department of Transportation.

Passing a resolution Wednesday night, the town requested the state transportation department to order the lowering of the speed limit on North Ohioville, Jansen, and Plains Roads.

The maximum speed limit on the thoroughfares is 50 miles an hour but because residents have complained of "excessive speeds" in the roadways, town officials want the speed lowered to 35 miles an hour through the heavily populated sites.

According to one town official, however, experience has shown that it is extremely difficult to get the state agency to rule for the lowering of speed limits.

It was noted that just recently in the Town of Wawarsing, Supervisor Frank W. Harkin and town councilmen wanted the speed limit lowered on a roadway that ran through a residential area.

A team of state examiners reportedly surveyed road conditions without informing Wawarsing officials and the result was that the department of transportation refused to grant permission.

In other board action, Oct. 9 was set as the date when the supervisor and the councilmen will get together on the adoption of the preliminary budget for 1969.

A public hearing on the budget will be scheduled one to four days after the Nov. 5 general election.

Another public hearing, this one on the new zoning ordinance, will be scheduled in the near future.

It was also announced that the engineering firm of Brinnier and Larios was scrutinizing the possibilities of forming an additional water district at South Putt Corners Road.

According to Supervisor Moriello, this would be a separate district.

Superintendent of Highways Isaac Pole declared that drainage problems at Holland Lane had been corrected with the addition of a new culvert and that Jansen Road was currently being rebuilt.

The fire contract was renewed with the village and the

After Mishaps

Kingston State Police on Thursday cited a motorist for leaving the scene of an accident and summoned another for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated as the result of a mishap on Route 28 in the Town of Ulster.

Troopers reported that P. N. Christoforides, 19, of 144-31 Barclay Avenue, Flushing, was westbound on Route 587 at the Route 28 traffic circle when he lost control of his car that left the pavement and hit a culvert and ditch and came to a stop on the traffic circle grass.

Christoforides was summoned for leaving the scene of an accident.

Paul E. Ottoson, 41, of 9 Library Lane, Woodstock, was driving his car west on Route 28 about one mile west of Route 209 in the Town of Ulster at 11:15 p. m. yesterday when the vehicle went off the right shoulder, crossed the highway part way and then skidded off the right shoulder and overturned on guard rails.

Ottoson was cited for driving while intoxicated. He submitted to a blood test, troopers said. The case is pending before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly. Ottoson apparently was not injured.

Cars operated by William St. Clair of R.D. 4, Box 284B, Kingston and Linda Brownlie of Stone Ridge, were involved in a mishap on Route 213 yesterday. The woman sustained a laceration of the forehead and contusions of the hip, troopers said. St. Clair was westbound and attempting a left turn into Pine Bush Road in the Town of Marbletown, and the Brownlie car was traveling east over the crest of a hill and as the brakes were applied the vehicle skidded 130 feet and was in collision with the St. Clair car.

Troopers said no police action was taken.

Colleges Lead In Enrollment

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Public colleges in New York State outgained private colleges by a 2-1 margin in new enrollment this fall.

The State Education Department said Thursday that enrollment in public colleges jumped by 26,000 to a total of 373,000 students. Enrollment in private colleges increased by 10,000 to a total of 342,000.

Probe Cause
Of High Woods
Dwelling Fire

Police and fire officials are investigating a mysterious fire which leveled a one-story frame unoccupied dwelling in High Woods during the early morning hours of Wednesday. No alarm was sounded and the fire was discovered by mailman Barry Craft on his early rounds.

Saugerties Town Police Chief Charles Riley said the home, owned by Mrs. Francis Knuth, in a secluded area on the Phillips Road in High Woods, was unoccupied at the time of the blaze. The only house nearby is about 500 feet distance from the scene. Apparently no one saw the blaze and it was not reported to Centerville Fire Department.

The fire must have been in progress during the heavy rain-fall which saved the wooded area nearby, Chief Riley said. Fire Chief Edward H. Ricks of the Centerville Department said Thursday that the cause of the fire is under investigation.

Dyson Urges Decisive Action
To Fight Crime and Its Causes

"The time has come to take strong and decisive action to fight crime and all its underlying causes, and to make all of our citizens safe on the streets and in their homes," declared John Dyson, Democratic Congressional candidate, speaking before the Hudson Valley Carpenters Union at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

In his third white paper dealing with the issues of today, Dyson stated: "I find it shocking that every American citizen will at one time or another in his life be a victim of crime. While our population has been slowly growing by 1.5 per cent each year, the crime rate has tripled since 1940. Crime in America affects all of us. Victims of crime are both rich and poor, old and young, black and white, male and female. Nor does crime respect party label. The crime rate in America continues to grow dramatically under both Democratic and Republican mayors, governors and presidents. The rising rate of crime and violence is intolerable."

More Police

The Millbrook publisher's paper pointed out: "Because large numbers of visible and mobile police patrolling sidewalks and streets are a deterrent to crime, we must enlarge our police forces. Two-thirds of the departments in medium sized American cities are below their authorized personnel strength. There must be greater incentives to induce qualified men and women to join the police. Starting and maximum salaries must be competitive with other professions and occupations. Promotions must not be based on seniority alone, but also on scores of competitive examinations, prior performance, character, educational achievement and leadership."

New Paltz Will Post

By CHARLES BERMPHOHL

The New Paltz Town Board met on Wednesday night and Supervisor Anthony Moriello read a letter from the State Department of Audit and Control stating that the town can post dog restrictions in certain heavily populated areas.

Moriello had taken the action of writing the audit and control department after area residents had complained of dog packs roaming through the residential areas.

It had been feared that if a dog ordinance were passed, it would have to be uniform for the township.

The ruling by the audit and control department appeared to eliminate that fear.

The township may not, however, meet with the same kind of cooperation it seeks from another state agency, that of the State Department of Transportation.

Passing a resolution Wednesday night, the town requested the state transportation department to order the lowering of the speed limit on North Ohioville, Jansen, and Plains Roads.

The maximum speed limit on the thoroughfares is 50 miles an hour but because residents have complained of "excessive speeds" in the roadways, town officials want the speed lowered to 35 miles an hour through the heavily populated sites.

According to one town official, however, experience has shown that it is extremely difficult to get the state agency to rule for the lowering of speed limits.

It was noted that just recently in the Town of Wawarsing, Supervisor Frank W. Harkin and town councilmen wanted the speed limit lowered on a roadway that ran through a residential area.

A team of state examiners reportedly surveyed road conditions without informing Wawarsing officials and the result was that the department of transportation refused to grant permission.

In other board action, Oct. 9 was set as the date when the supervisor and the councilmen will get together on the adoption of the preliminary budget for 1969.

A public hearing on the budget will be scheduled one to four days after the Nov. 5 general election.

Another public hearing, this one on the new zoning ordinance, will be scheduled in the near future.

It was also announced that the engineering firm of Brinrier and Larios was scrutinizing the possibilities of forming an additional water district at South Putt Corners Road.

According to Supervisor Moriello, this would be a separate district.

Superintendent of Highways Isaac Pole declared that drainage problems at Holland Lane had been corrected with the addition of a new culvert and that Jansen Road was currently being rebuilt.

The fire contract was renewed with the village and the

Scientist Sentenced

LONDON (UPI)—An Indian-born scientist who did research work for the United States and British defense establishments was sentenced Thursday to five years in prison for smuggling marijuana. The prosecution said Gurdev Singh Sangha, 37, a micro-wave researcher, was a member of a Pakistan-based smuggling gang.

Cite Two Drivers
After Mishaps

Kingston State Police on Thursday cited a motorist for leaving the scene of an accident and summoned another for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated as the result of a mishap on Route 28 in the Town of Ulster.

Troopers reported that P. N. Christoforides, 19, of 144-31 Barclay Avenue, Flushing, was westbound on Route 587 at the Route 28 traffic circle when he lost control of his car that left the pavement and hit a culvert and ditch and came to a stop on the traffic circle grass.

Christoforides was summoned for leaving the scene of an accident.

Paul E. Ottoson, 41, of 9 Library Lane, Woodstock, was driving his car west on Route 28 about one mile west of Route 209 in the Town of Ulster at 11:15 p. m. yesterday when the vehicle went off the right shoulder, crossed the highway part way and then skidded off the right shoulder and overturned on guard rails.

Ottoson was cited for driving while intoxicated. He submitted to a blood test, troopers said. The case is pending before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly. Ottoson apparently was not injured.

Cars operated by William St. Clair of R.D. 4, Box 284B, Kingston and Linda Brownlie of Stone Ridge, were involved in a mishap on Route 213 yesterday. The woman sustained a laceration of the forehead and contusions of the hip, troopers said. St. Clair was westbound and attempting a left turn into Pine Bush Road in the Town of Marbletown, and the Brownlie car was traveling east over the crest of a hill and as the brakes were applied the vehicle skidded 130 feet and was in collision with the St. Clair car.

Troopers said no police action was taken.

To Manufacture Special Rubber

Hercules Incorporated announced plans to enter a new field—the manufacture of specialty synthetic rubber at a multimillion-dollar plant to be built at the company's Hattiesburg, Miss. facilities. The new plant is expected to be in operation the first quarter of 1970.

The family of specialty rubbers, which will be called "Hercor," was developed in the research laboratories of Hercules and possess a unique combination of properties which indicate improved performance in a broad range of applications. These applications include automotive and aircraft parts; seals and gaskets; wire and cable jackets; adhesives; packings; hose and belting; and rubber-coated fabrics.

The manufacture and sales of Hercor by the Rubber Division of the Pine & Paper Chemicals Department of Hercules is an extension of the well-established product line of this division, which currently is selling, to various segments of the rubber industry, a variety of chemicals including emulsifiers, catalysts, compounding resins, cross-linking agents, rubber solvents, and reclaiming agents.

Caldor Reports Gain in Income

Caldor, Inc., the discount department store chain, today reported a sharp earnings increase of 283 per cent to record levels on a sales gain of 8.5 per cent for the first fiscal half ended July 27.

Net earnings rose to $730,709 or 31 cents a share from $190,657 or eight cents a share for the corresponding period last year. Sales for the half increased to $37,826,615 from $34,854,396.

Carl Bennett, president and chairman, attributed the large earnings increase to gains scored by stores expanded during the latter part of last year and to better expense controls made possible through the utilization of a more sophisticated data processing program.

The company opened one new store last year during the first half, its Framingham, Mass. unit in April, 1967.

Davis Forecasts Growing Market For Heating Oil

Advances in oil burner technology and the public's demand for new homes combined to create a growing market for an aggressive home heating oil industry. New York State fuel oil merchants were told recently by Milton G. Davis, eastern area marketing vice president of Atlantic Richfield Company, "to make the most of the future, more emphasis must be placed on consumer service. Today's consumer expects service, truly worry-free service, and he's willing to pay for it."

Tips for Painting Over Old Wallpaper

QUESTION: I am planning to paint over the wallpaper in our living room. I want to use a nodrip paint, but someone told me it is too heavy and might pull the paper from the wall. Is this right?

ANSWER: If the paper is solidly attached to the wall, you can safely use a no-drip paint. In fact, if it isn't solidly attached, better not paint at all until you remove it.

Most of the time wallpaper adheres in most places, but there may be a spot here and there where it isn't sticking or where there is a bubble. In that event, split the paper with a blade or sharp knife and apply paste on the wall, being careful not to get any on the surface of the paper. Press the paper to the wall, wait a couple of hours, then go ahead and paint.

(You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743.)

Split Level Is Good Investment

Not only does this design look good now, but it will look equally attractive in years to come. What is more, the advantages of a split level home more than justifies its existence. There is perfectly practical separation of living and sleeping quarters without having to trudge up flights of stairs. A few short steps take you from one level to the next, and at the same time achieve a maximum in privacy.

If you note the location of the kitchen on the accompanying floor plan you will see how easy it is for the homemaker to prepare and serve her meals piping hot.

You can reach the basement in either of two ways, from the outside at the rear, or by means of a few steps leading down from the hall near the kitchen. This is one basement that will be ready for the many uses to which it can be put. These include a separate laundry area, a large playroom for adults and children, a full garage and a big room for your heating plant and for storage.

The combination of the basement storage facility and the closets upstairs will satisfy virtually all family requirements. ("The Meadowhill" is designed with basement only.)

In terms of area the house has 1,350 square feet of living space, 1,350 square feet for garage and other basement rooms.

Your blueprints, by the way, show how "The Meadowhill" may be built in three materials — wood siding, brick veneer and concrete block. Each material, of course, has its advantages, and the house will look equally attractive no matter which you select.

Stone House Day Set in Stone Ridge

The 267-year-old Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209, Accord, will sponsor its 12th annual Stone House Day on Saturday, Oct. 5, 1968. Guided tours will start from the church between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served at the church from 11 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Several new homes will be opened for the first time for this tour. Detailed articles on each house will be forthcoming. An additional feature will be a Country Store which will offer for sale: watercolor and oil paintings; home baked rolls, bread, pie, cake and cookies; homemade jellies and pickles; quilts and other handwork; local maple syrup and, home grown Indian corn, gourds, pumpkins and tomatoes.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Many home owners like to grow their poinsettia over for another year. If yours is outdoors, make sure it gets in before frost hits. Don't be surprised if the leaves turn yellow or start to drop when you bring it indoors. One reason for leaf drop is that the roots were disturbed when the pot was pulled up. Also, high temperatures indoors will cause yellowing, but after the plant becomes established it will develop green leaves.

It's almost impossible to get your poinsettia to flower for Christmas unless you give it the same special treatment that florists do to get them to color up. This means covering the plant with a black plastic sheet or placing it in a dark hall at night, where absolutely no light will reach the plant. It's an odd fact that even in greenhouses, many plants which receive a small amount of light from a distant street light may flower too late for Christmas.

Indoors, try to maintain a temperature of around 65 degrees if possible.

FREE: Want to know how to shorten a tall poinsettia? Or make it flower exactly for Christmas? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my bulletin, HOW TO GROW POINSETTIAS, GARDENIAS AND CAMELIAS. My guide is full of good tips on raising these prized yet stubborn house plants.

Slug the Snails

generally satisfactory for them, sometimes it's impossible to eradicate them even with baits. One of my readers tells us she uses common table salt to banish this pest. At night (snails and slugs are night workers) she takes a flashlight and goes out with a salt shaker. Whenever she sees a slug or snail, she sprinkles a little salt on them and it kills the pest instantly. She says this is the cheapest and easiest way to kill the snails.

Green Thumb Clinic
A reader writes: "My Arbutus evergreen has brown needles which are starting to fall off. Does it mean the tree is dying?"

No. It's natural for evergreens to have some of their needles turn brown or yellow now. There will shed, while the green ones remain on the tree. Keep your evergreens well watered in the fall and they will come through the winter in better shape.

Plattekill, Lloyd Talk Budgets

The Towns of Plattekill and Lloyd held their regular board meetings Wednesday night which resulted in dog enumerators being named and a date set for a preliminary budget.

The Lloyd Town Board will meet on Sept. 20 to pass on the preliminary budget for 1969.

Both a public hearing and passage of the budget will take place before the Nov. 5 general election.

Lloyd officials reappointed Anthony Lanzarone as dog enumerator, the one who will take a count of all licensed and unlicensed dogs in the community.

Lanzarone is also the Lloyd dog warden.

The Town of Plattekill did not set a date for a preliminary hearing on the 1969 budget but it will be done before the town's Oct. 5 vote on the new budget.

Estimate sheets were presented to town officials, however.

The officials will use the sheets to make up their estimated expenses for the new year.

There was some discussion on the addition of more street lights but no further action was taken on the matter.

Mrs. Emma Kopaskie was selected to be the dog enumerator in accordance with state law.

The town is still waiting for a court decision on the East Road dump in Plattekill.

A number of town residents started action against the town, charging that the town had to remove the dump.

Town Attorney Stewart T. Schantz told The Freeman that a hearing was held on the matter on Sept. 6 and that the court had "reserved decision" on the case.

Last week, the new trailer ordinance went into effect which will seek to control trailers, trailer parks, and campsites within the town borders.

Syracuse Quiet After Earlier Fires, Assaults

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Few incidents were reported overnight in Syracuse, police said, in contrast to the preceding nights of vandalism.

At 5 a.m. today, police termed the city "very quiet."

Special police patrols had been sent into the predominantly Negro sections of the city.

Financial and Commercial

Quotations by Hertz, Warner & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, Kingston Branch, 15 Albany Avenue, Kingston, N. Y., David W. Hoffman, manager.

BRITTS PRICES

The prices on Scott products at Britts, in the Kingston Plaza, were incorrectly quoted in an advertisement in The Freeman. The correct prices are: Turf Builder Fertilizer is selling for $13.95, $9.95, and $5.45 to cover 15,000, 10,000 and 5,000 square feet respectively; while Windrow Grass Seed is selling for $4.95 and the Scott's "Blend 70" Grass Seed retails for $4.45.

Savings Bond Director Lauds City Postmaster

Kingston Postmaster Oscar V. you and your personnel pro-$5 are on sale at all times in Newkirk has been commended vide . . .

Johnson also pointed out the director of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division, for his leadership and service to the Treasury's School Savings Program. In a letter to the Postmaster, Johnson said "We are once again counting on your leadership and cooperation for the successful operation of the School Savings Program in local communities. A large measure of the success of this program is due to the fine service denominations, from 10 cents to $5 are on sale at all times in the post office and on Stamp Day in schools. As pupils fill their albums—which are provided free—they exchange them for U. S. Savings Bonds at their bank.

Newkirk said "We are happy and proud to offer this service to the youth of America. I know of no better way to teach both thrift and civic responsibility than by encouraging our young folks to buy Savings Stamps and Bonds. In this way, they really share in America."

PBA Critical Of Splinter Police Society

TANNERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — The New York City Patrolmen's Benevolent Association has approved a resolution strongly criticizing the recently formed Law Enforcement Society, a militant splinter group.

The PBA, at its 74th annual convention Thursday, attacked "any agency attempting to usurp the powers, duties or prerogatives" of the parent organization.

The Society, chartered under the name Law Enforcement Group, was organized by some patrolmen to enlist the support of the general public "to assist in maintaining law and order."

Last week, some off-duty policemen allegedly took part in the beating of several Negro militants in a Brooklyn courthouse corridor.

Members of the Society have denied that they condoned the attack.

In another resolution, the delegates of the 20,000-member PBA authorized its president, John J. Cassese, to look into the possibility of affiliating with the AFL-CIO.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary, who addressed the delegates at a luncheon, said he would not comment on the demand for abolishing such units until he had a chance to further examine the situation.

Compressors Stolen

Gerald Gruber of Arnold Drive reported to the County Sheriff's Department late Thursday that two air conditioner compressors valued at $500 each were stolen from his garage.

County Investigator Harold T. Bowers is investigating.

Plattekill, Lloyd Talk Budgets

The Towns of Plattekill and Lloyd held their regular board meetings Wednesday night which resulted in dog enumerators being named and a date set for a preliminary budget.

The Lloyd Town Board will meet on Sept. 20 to pass on the preliminary budget for 1969.

Both a public hearing and passage of the budget will take place before the Nov. 5 general election.

Lloyd officials reappointed Anthony Lanzarone as dog enumerator, the one who will take a count of all licensed and unlicensed dogs in the community.

Lanzarone is also the Lloyd dog warden.

The Town of Plattekill did not set a date for a preliminary hearing on the 1969 budget but it will be done before the town's Oct. 5 vote on the new budget.

Estimate sheets were presented to town officials, however.

The officials will use the sheets to make up their estimated expenses for the new year.

There was some discussion on the addition of more street lights but no further action was taken on the matter.

Mrs. Emma Kopaske was selected to be the dog enumerator in accordance with state law.

The town is still waiting for a court decision on the East Road dump in Plattekill.

A number of town residents started action against the town, charging that the town had to remove the dump.

Town Attorney Stewart T. Schantz told The Freeman that a hearing was held on the matter on Sept. 6 and that the court had "reserved decision" on the case.

Last week, the new trailer ordinance went into effect which will seek to control trailers, trailer parks, and campsites within the town borders.

Syracuse Quiet After Earlier Fires, Assaults

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Few incidents were reported overnight in Syracuse, police said, in contrast to the preceding nights of vandalism.

At 5 a.m. today, police termed the city "very quiet."

Special police patrols had been sent into the predominantly Negro sections of the city.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks got off to a firm start today, with prices generally opening only a fraction either side of Thursday's close and with initial activity light.

STARDUSTERS — One of a line-up of six bands to perform Saturday night following Ulster County Community Chest's opening parade will be "The Stardusters," pictured above. The corps, from Pompton Lakes, N. J., consists of 110 girls with a parade unit of between 70 and 90. They will appear at Dietz Stadium. This year marks the first time they are in open competition, having competed in Pennsylvania, Port Jervis and Cambridge, Md. At present the corps holds the 1967-1968 Liberty Color Guard Championship. Others taking part in the Band Show are the Stewart Air Force Base Marching Band; Kingston's Troop 12 Boy Scout Drum Corps, The Kingston Indians, The Vagabonds of Poughkeepsie and the Celtic Cadets from Monticello.

Special Municipal Census Deadline By Government Begins in November

The various deadlines for municipalities and smaller communities to file intentions for a special census with the U.S. Department of Commerce begin in November and continue through the first of the year. The deadlines as they apply to Ulster County are as follows:

For municipalities with 150,000 population or more, including entire counties, Nov. 1.

For municipalities between 24,000 and 150,000, Dec. 2.

For political subdivisions under 25,000, which would include

village and townships, January 1, 1969.

Initial applications must be made by these dates with the Bureau of Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C. Local officials wishing to apply for a special population census may initiate the procedure by addressing a letter to A. Ross Eckler, director, Bureau of Census.

Estimates Required

This letter should contain a rough estimate of the probable population of the municipality and should request an estimate of the cost. It should also request any further information desired and should indicate any special situations such as the presence in the municipality of an institution or Indian reservation requiring separate enumeration of a portion of the population so that it can be excluded from the enumeration for per capita state aid purposes.

All costs of the special census must be borne by the contracting local government. The estimate supplied by the Bureau of Census will provide a basis for a final decision by municipal officials as to the taking of the census.

Fees for special censuses have been increased.

For populations under 100—$310; 100 to 499—$335 to $360; 500 to 999—$415 to $560; 1,000 to 4,999—$600 plus $25 per 100 or fraction over 1,099; 5,000 to 9,999—$1,600, plus $120 per 500 or fraction over 5,499; 10,000 to 49,999—$2,800, plus $195 per 1,000 or fraction over 10,999.

A standard bureau charge is not used for communities of 50,000 and over and for most whole counties.

The Bureau of Census has established the deadlines which require filing of application, initial payments and maps by contracting governments. The deadlines are necessary to insure adequate time for the Census Bureau to make arrangements for special censuses next year which must be taken between March 15 and May 15 for use in computing per capita state aid.

Government Austerity Budget May Free 30,000 Navy Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — In what may be a controversial move, the Pentagon is considering letting 30,000 Navy reservists off active duty early to save money this year, sources say.

If approved, the action will mean the release of many men who elected to serve two years active duty as part of a Navy reserve program fulfilling their military obligation.

It would not affect thousands of Army, Air Force and National Guard members who were activated—some against their choice—after North Korea seized the USS Pueblo last January.

Some Pentagon officials fear the proposed "early-out" plan will bring more criticism from members of Congress and activated reservists who complained they weren't really needed.

Only Wednesday, Rep. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., called for an investigation of the Pentagon's reserve callups in February and April.

The Defense Department ordered 14,800 reservists after the Pueblo incident, then activated another 24,500 in April following the enemy's Tet offensive in Vietnam.

While the January activation came in the heat of the Pueblo affair, many people including some reservists suspected the action was designed mainly to relieve Vietnam manpower pressures.

One short trip to Mobil can get you one long trip to almost anywhere.

$2500 would do it, right? And that's what you can win playing Mobil's new game, Strike It Clean. Three different ways.

- By getting a $2500 instant winner.
- By matching two half-tickets marked $2500.
- By winning the $2500 Sweepstakes. (It could happen. Somebody in the United States wins every single day of the Sweepstakes, just by sending in the blank that's attached to every Strike It Clean ticket. Because there's a new Sweepstakes drawing for every single day.)

You could also win $1000, $100, $25, $5, or $1. Instantly, or by matching two half-tickets. And you don't have to buy anything.

So first take a short trip. To Mobil. You could end up taking a long trip. On Mobil.

Wants Investigation

Only two reserve air squadrons actually deployed to South Korea.

Pentagon officials are preparing to justify any release of the Navy reservists on grounds of economy. Congress has ordered sharp cuts in government spending and the Pentagon is supposed to slash costs by between $2 billion and $3 billion in the current fiscal year.

Officials estimate $48 million can be saved if 30,000 Navy reservists now going through their two year active duty phase are released a few months early, between October and December.

Another Economy Move

The Navy in another financial chop recently laid up 50 ships and disbanded eight air squadrons for economy's sake.

The Army and Air Force also have been hit in the money-saving drive, phasing out anti-aircraft missile squadrons and slowing down bomber production, among other things.

Buffalo Firemen Want Pay Parity

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Fire Fighters in this city have threatened a walkout unless they receive pay parity with police. A confrontation between the firemen and the finance committee of the city's Common Council was set for today.

Frederick C. Carner, president of Local 282 said Thursday, "Strike, sick call or whatever happens will be a mass effort by the membership to bring pressure necessary for pay parity with the police."

Police signed a contract Thursday for a 20 per cent hike in pay and added benefits. They started a slowdown by calling in sick when the council attempted to have their new contract sent to its finance committee for discussion.

Firemen signed a contract earlier for a 15 per cent pay hike, but claimed it included a stipulation that they would be paid dollar for dollar with police if there was a difference.

The city claims the contract calls only for the reopening of negotiations.

Carner said the tone of a meeting held Thursday night was "highly volatile." "These men have acted according to law all summer, and if they are not given the parity they have been promised, I can't say what they will do," he said.

Biggest, Best Prediction On Chest Campaign Opener

"The biggest and the best"—as it passes through local that's how Wilfred (Bud) areas.

Springer terms the upcoming Ulster County Community Chest opener which will feature a Band Show at Dietz Stadium Saturday night following a county-wide parade in which 2,000 will participate.

"The Winning Beat" of the 1968-69 Ulster County Community Chest, according to Springer, the executive director, officially sounds off at 10 a. m. with a 14-boat parade representing each of the Chest agencies that serve the county.

A caravan of automobiles will carry many campaign officials and "Red Feather Girls" and marchers will include a lineup of bands, scout and fraternal groups.

Assemble at KHS

The parade units are scheduled to assemble at Kingston High School parking lot at 9:30 a. m. The main units will then leave for West Hurley and Woodstock at 10 a. m. with a marching in Woodstock scheduled for 10:45. Local elements will participate in the parade shooting for an eight per cent increase over their 1968 goal.

Realistic Figure

In announcing the goal, Pearson called it a "realistic figure" but he referred to the budget as being a "bare-boned" minimum to support the agencies. He cited the budget allocation committee, saying that they had done a tremendous amount of soul-searching.

About 800 volunteers are expected to take part in the campaign working out of campaign headquarters located in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Fourteen agencies serve the residents of the chest area, including the hewest, the Family Casework Center.

They are: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, YWCA, Salvation Army, Boys' Club, USO, Red Cross, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Health Association, Association for Retarded Children, Gateway Industries.

Special Municipal Census Deadline By Government Begins in November

The various deadlines for municipalities and smaller communities to file intentions for a special census with the U.S. Department of Commerce begin in November and continue through the first of the year. The deadlines as they apply to Ulster County are as follows:

For municipalities with 150,000 population or more, including entire counties, Nov. 1.

For municipalities between 24,000 and 150,000, Dec. 2.

For political subdivisions under 25,000, which would include question any further information desired and should indicate any special situations such as the presence in the municipality of an institution or Indian reservation requiring separate enumeration of a portion of the population so that it can be excluded from the enumeration for per capita state aid purposes.

All costs of the special census must be borne by the contracting local government. The cost estimate supplied by the Bureau of Census will provide a basis for a final decision by municipal officials as to the taking of the census.

Fees for special censuses have been increased.

For populations under 100—$310; 100 to 499—$335 to $360; 500 to 999—$415 to $560; 1,000 to 4,999—$600 plus $25 per 100 or fraction over 1,099; 5,000 to 9,999—$1,600, plus $120 per 500 or fraction over 5,499; 10,000 to 49,999—$2,800, plus $195 per 1,000 or fraction over 10,999.

A standard bureau charge is not used for communities of 50,000 and over and for most whole counties.

The Bureau of Census has established the deadlines which require filing of application, initial payments and maps by contracting governments. The deadlines are necessary to insure adequate time for the Census Bureau to make arrangements for special censuses next year which must be taken between March 15 and May 15 for use in computing per capita state aid.

Government Austerity Budget May Free 30,000 Navy Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — In what may be a controversial move, the Pentagon is considering letting 30,000 Navy reservists off active duty early to save money this year, sources say.

If approved, the action will mean the release of many men who elected to serve two years active duty as part of a Navy reserve program fulfilling their military obligation.

It would not affect thousands of Army, Air Force and National Guard members who were activated—some against their choice—after North Korea seized the USS Pueblo last January.

Biggest, Best Prediction On Chest Campaign Opener

"The biggest and the best"—as it passes through local areas. The next stop will be Saugerties with the parade scheduled for noon. The chest motorcade of officials and floats then heads for New Paltz, through Rosendale, where activities are set for 2:45 p. m. It is at this point that the Stewart Air Force Base band is scheduled to join the parade.

Back in Kingston, at 7 p. m., the parade will wend its way up Broadway to Dietz Stadium for the band show.

Included in this year's line-up of bands are: the Stardusters, Stewart Air Force Band, Kingston Troop 12 Boy Scout Drum Corps, The Kingston Indians, The Vagabonds of Poughkeepsie and the Celtic Cadets from Monticello.

Earlier in the campaign, the chairman William Pearson announced a goal of $345,000 to be reached by Oct. 19.

This year's goal represents a 4.5 per cent increase over the amount raised last year and a 7.8 per cent increase over last year's goal. It was noted however, that most counties are shooting for an eight per cent increase over their 1968 goal.

Realistic Figure

In announcing the goal, Pearson called it a "realistic figure" as being a "bare-boned" minimum to support the agencies. He cited the budget allocation committee, saying that they had done a tremendous amount of soul-searching.

Four-County Pilot Plan Gets Boost As Officials Confer on Rural Knots

By JEAN F. DOLAN

A pilot program aimed at planned rural development in the Mid-Hudson area got approval of interested officials at a meeting Thursday in Kingston.

Approximately 40 representatives of federal, state and local agencies and governments plus a smattering of interested citizens attended and an ad hoc meeting in the county legislature's room in the Ulster County Office Building to thrash out initial proposals offered by the Farmers Home Administration. Barthly L. Beach, state director of the federal agency, chaired the meeting and outlined the plans for an expanded program of development for the four-county area comprised of Ulster, Greene, Sullivan and Orange.

Representatives of various government agencies from New York, Albany and Syracuse were on hand to detail programs available for grass roots development in the Greene, Ulster, Sullivan and Orange under the dovetailing concerns for help for the poor, economic expansion and predicted population growth.

Selected Area

The area was selected by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for the pilot program to demonstrate how the services available from federal, state and local governments can be used to help solve problems growing out of a rapidly developing area.

While the Farmers Home Administration, a Department of Agriculture agency has the specific assignment of developing the pilot program other federal agencies are much a part of the core participation—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil and Water Conservation Service and the Cooperation Extension Service, prompted planning professional Herbert Hekler to call for traditional funds, not further study, in Ulster County.

It was noted also that Sullivan and Orange Counties are not participants in the family feeding program available under New York State Office of General Services which also provides school lunch, special milk and institution and indigent feeding through surplus foods—aiding the farmer and the consumer.

Throughout the meeting, the need for awareness of government services readily available to the individual or local organization was made crystal clear. Much more than funding programs are on ready for local Training sessions, as well as advisory facilities, are at beck and call for many of the alphabet agencies on all levels of government. The units are equipped to provide these services and it is part of the pilot program's role to keep the citizenry in touch with the proper agency for the proper job.

Selected Area

The area was selected by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for the pilot program to demonstrate how the services available from federal, state and local governments can be used to help solve problems growing out of a rapidly developing area.

While the Farmers Home Administration, a Department of Agriculture agency has the specific assignment of developing the pilot program other federal agencies are much a part of the core participation—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil and Water Conservation Service and the Cooperation Extension Service. In addition to these departments, concerned individuals, the State Department of Education, Small Business Administration, Social Services, New York State Department of General Services, county government officials and professional planners talked out specific and hypothetical problems peculiar to the area.

While the economy of the area is, in several respects, a dynamic one, many of its resources are far from being fully developed and this was the crux of the discussion Thursday. Pockets of poverty, housing needs for a fast growing area, water and sewage problems, seasonal employment characteristic of much of the areas economy and development of recreational facilities which in turn create an additional economic boost were of vital concern to the pilot plan pioneers in attendance.

Although the implementation of a cohesive plan remained nebular, dialogue at the meeting, which continued well into the afternoon, indicated both need and desire for such a program. Specific local problems aired by representatives from Greene and Sullivan Counties if not answered on the spot were at least brought to the attention of concerned government officials who have agency programs available in these areas.

Ulster Ahead

The basic overall planning programs now underway in Ulster County proved to be ahead of sister counties in the Mid-Hudson project with only Orange County coming close. Survey reports of soil and water plus town planning boards already in operation.

prompted planning professional Herbert Hekler to call for traditional funds, not further study, in Ulster County.

It was noted also that Sullivan and Orange Counties are not participants in the family feeding program available under New York State Office of General Services which also provides school lunch, special milk and institution and indigent feeding through surplus foods—aiding the farmer and the consumer.

Buchanan - Misove

Miss Colleen Ann Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Buchanan of 8 Tietjen Avenue, Kingston, became the bride of Paul Andrew Misove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Misove of 75 Flatbush Avenue, Kingston, on Sunday, Sept. 8, at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rt. Rev. John J. O'Reilly, pastor, celebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated at the double ring ceremony. James Sweeney, organist, accompanied Janet Kaercher who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white chrysanthemums and pompons decorated the altar and satin rows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza gown featuring an Empire bodice, abbreviated sleeves and scooped neckline. The bodice, sleeves and skirt were accented with appliques of Swiss lace and the bouffant train was chapel length. Her three-tiered elbow length silk illusion veil was shired to a stylized headpiece of handrolled organza roses. She carried a long cascade of white roses and stephanotis accented by green ivy. After the ceremony the bride presented a bouquet of white pompons at the Blessed Mother's altar.

Miss Cathy Ann Keizer of New York and Mrs. Emily Ann Smith of Bayonne, N. J., served as maid of honor and matron of honor, respectively. They wore apricot colored Karate gowns in the empire fashion with circlet necklines and abbreviated sleeves. Necklines and sleeves were encircled with multicolored silk braid. They wore matching circlets with tulle flirtation veils and carried deep apricot pompons with miniature yellow roses accenting the long cascades.

Attendants were Mary Jane Buchanan, sister of the bride; Jessie HHume Doyle and Virginia Emily Hirt, both of New York. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried long cascades of pale apricot pompons.

Michael Misove of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushers were Peter Altomari, cousin of the bride; Donald VanKeuren and Charles Reis, all of Kingston; and John C. Smith of Bayonne, N. J.

After the wedding a reception for 160 guests was held at the Capri 400 in Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to Bermuda, the bride selected a navy blue and beige dressmaker suit with navy blue patent accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Academy of St. Ursula and Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. She is a member of the nursing staff of the Pediatric Department at Kingston Hospital.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, attended Ulster County Community College and is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Misove will reside at 116 Linderman Avenue, this city.

Attendants were Patricia Sickles, cousin of the bride; Susan Klein; and Elizabeth Shann, all of Kingston. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant and they carried traditional long cascades of yellow pompon chrysanthemums with miniature green ivy.

Kenneth Jensen of Glenrie Lake Park, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Ralph Lyons and George Lyons, both brothers of the bridegroom, and Paul Anderson, brother of the bride.

After the wedding a reception for 100 guests was held at the Sawkill Snackbar.

For her wedding trip through the New England States and Canada, the bride selected a turquoise suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed as receptionist by Alfred V. Zamm, M.D., and Samuel J. Stein, M.D., Kingston. Her husband graduated from Pottsville High School and is employed by Wonderly's in Kingston. The couple will reside at West Shokan.

Young Moderns: Advice to Moms

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some teen-age mothers forget babies need affection, comments a baby nurse. She has noticed that many of these young girls still act like children themselves.

"In their eagerness for love and affection, they are denying it to their own little ones," she explains. "And they don't want their mothers to tell them anything, although they are not beyond taking a job and pushing baby off on mother."

A baby's early months are important, she says. If baby is happy, it will be easy to rear.

A young mother need not bring a child up as if it were a Dresden doll. But cleanliness is important. Babies need lots of affection and shouldn't be propped up in a crib to be bottle-fed. Holding them gives them security.

Baby should be trained to go to sleep after the last bottle. Simply turn out the light and walk away—after awhile he'll get the message.

Mothers should not put a lot of toys in a crib to keep babies quiet. A crib must be a place to sleep, not a play place. One tiny stuffed toy in the crib is conducive to sleep.

If baby is put outdoors in a carriage, check on him frequently. There are no more uncomfortable beings than babies who are left in the bright sunshine (because mothers think it is good for them) or put under trees where insects can make a meal of them or are so overdressed that they can scarcely breathe.

Candidates' Campaign Techniques Causing Discontent in Party Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The early campaign techniques of the two major presidential candidates are causing some discontent among members of their own parties.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been criticized by some Democrats for too often shooting from the hip on crucial matters. On the Republican side, Richard M. Nixon is said to be too complacent about winning the November election.

This assessment of the early tactics of the general election drive surfaced from a cross-section check of interested politicians not intimately connected with the campaigns of the two candidates.

Campaign officials generally are loathe to publicly discuss the tactics or prospects of their candidates, except in confident and laudatory terms.

But those politicians whose only stake in the campaign is a desire to see their own party win more often will give a candid assessment of what's happening.

For example, some Democrats not directly involved in the presidential campaign say Humphrey has been making too many statements, particularly on Vietnam, on which he has had to backtrack.

These same observers say the Democrats' No. 2 man, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, has been making a better impression on the voters than Humphrey.

On the Republican side there is comment that Nixon is being too vague about the issues, that he is trying to coast into the presidency in the manner that helped defeat the GOP's Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of those Republicans willing to speak out on the subject, said he thinks there is more than a grain of overconfidence on the part of some of Nixon's advisers.

"Dick himself isn't overconfident," Morton said. "But I think some of the men around him are just a little too sure he is going to win the election and they are trying to keep him under wraps."

Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., who doesn't face his state's voters again until 1970, had another point. He said in a separate interview that unless Humphrey can pull feuding Democrats together he may be "clobbered" in November.

McGee's advice to Humphrey is to quit flitting with the Democratic dissidents who say the unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Seagren-Carlos Track Records Under Official Fire

RECORD BOUND — Bob Seagren goes over the bar for 17 ft., 8 1/2 in. to set a new world record in the pole vault in the Olympic trials at Lake Tahoe. He beat Paul Wilson's old mark of 17 ft., 7 1/2 in. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Floyd, Jimmy Don't Talk, but Will Fight

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Jimmy Ellis, World Boxing association heavyweight champion, and former champ Floyd Patterson, who clash in a 15-round fight for the title Saturday, met personally for the first time Thursday.

Ellis and Patterson shook hands and said nice things about each other at a news conference at Stockholm's Raasunda Soccer Stadium, where the fight will be staged.

Ellis and Patterson did not speak to other but told newsmen that they like each other.

"There are no hard feelings between us," Ellis said. "I like Floyd as a good man and a good fighter."

"But in the ring he is just an opponent I have to beat. I must do my job. This is my living," he said.

"I'm in the best shape ever and prepared for a tough fight which can go the full distance. Floyd is dangerous but I'm sure I'll defend my title."

Harold Valan of New York will be the sole referee. He has handled three world champion fights, including the light heavyweight bout between Jose Torres and Dick Tiger in 1967. The Ellis-Patterson bout will be his first heavyweight title fight. Ellis' trainer, Angelo Dundee, and Patterson's trainer, Ernie Fowler, discussed the rules to be used with the referee.

Mandatory Count

The mandatory eight count will be used, the referee will not stop the fight after a three knockdown, but will continue the counting after the bell. The scoring will be from one to four points for the winner of the round and nothing for the loser. An even round means zero-zero.

Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlqvist predicted some 30,000 fans at the stadium. In addition, millions will be able to watch on television transmitted via satellite to the U.S., Canada, Mexico, West Germany, Austria and Yugoslavia. England and some other nations will have the fight recorded.

Ellis, a father of six, will pick up 40 per cent of the income or a guaranty of $125,000 dollars, while Patterson gets only 20 per cent of the take. He has no guaranty sum. Ellis, a former sparring mate to Cassius Clay, has a record of 26-6 compared to Patterson's 46-1.

St. Luke's of England Upends Hartwick Coll.

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — Tony Wenden paced the visiting St. Luke's College of Exeter, England, to a 5-1 soccer victory over Hartwick College Thursday.

Wenden had three goals and was named the game's most valuable player.

The St. Luke's team, undefeated in two games in its U.S. tour, next plays at Fairleigh Dickinson College in New Jersey.

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—America's track and field stars are rewriting the record book at high altitude, but that old bugaboo—officialdom—is lurking in the background ready to cheat them out of their hard-earned rewards.

Bob Seagren, the 21-year-old jumping jack from Pomona, Calif., set a world record of 17 feet, 9 inches Thursday in the pole vault at the U.S. Olympic track and field trials. John Carlos, an angular, happy-go-lucky, runner off the sidewalks of New York, matched it with a spectacular 19.7 second world record-setting performance in the 200-meter dash.

As fantastic as those records may sound, though, both Seagren and Carlos may get cheated out of them, Carlos more than Seagren.

After Seagren, a senior this fall at the University of Southern California, had cleared the pole vault bar, two different officials scaled a ladder and reported it was a 17.9 effort.

However, when the officials tried to justify 17.9 on the metric scale, they couldn't do it. So, first they announced the height at 17.8 3/4, which figures out to 5.41 on the metric scale, then thought better of it, and said the mark stands at 17.9.

A little later, after a meeting of the men's Olympic Rules Committee, it was decided to turn the matter over to the International Amateur Athletic Federation, a body composed of members from nations who use the metric system rather than feet and inches. Don't bet Seagren doesn't lose a quarter inch by the time that one is decided.

Carlos is in deeper with the officials.

It seems he used running shoes which may not be approved by the IAAF. If not, goodbye record, and also Tommie Smith's 19.9 performance for a second place finish.

The shoe in question has 68 needle like spikes across the sole. An IAAF rule says no shoe should have more than six, but the rules ambiguous in that it by a spike. The shoes Carlos and Smith used, in accordance with IAAF rules, offer no advantage except that some athletes prefer them to others for comfort reasons.

That one, too, goes to the IAAF to be muddled over.

Carlos, happy as he could be with his record—and victory over Smith—said he couldn't care less about the shoes.

"What do I care about the shoes," said the man who won the 100 dash at the Little Olympics a year ago. "I set the record, not the shoes, and the way I was juiced up I could have done it in my bare feet. Man, I was flying, and don't forget this is the first time I ever beat Smith."

Smith, who has had stomach problems since coming to 7,377-foot high Echo Summit, held the recognized record at 20 seconds flat, set a year ago at San Jose, Calif. He also broke his own mark with his 19.9 performance. And Larry Questad, a man who had never done better than 20.5 in the past, tied the Smith mark of 20 flat to gain the third Olympic berth in the 200.

It was a race which Payton Jordan, Olympic track and field team coach, called the greatest of all time.

That's no exaggeration. Consider these facts to back

Bill Costello and Bob Schmedake (25 straight) tied for first place with .940 average in the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club's weekly trapshoot.

These were tied at 8.80—Ron Gally, Steve Maidl, Jr., Harry Smith, Grover Elsworth, Jr. and Mike Nichols tied with .850. Harvey Sleight had .853, Ed Axelson, .840; and Chuck Boughton, Sr. .800.

Joe Duncan, Jr. led the juniors with .600. Tim McGuire had .560.

Unheralded Tour Player Cards Five-Under-Par 67

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—Third year pro Joel Goldstrand, who has never quite earned expense money, shot a five-under-par 67

Thursday for the early first round lead in the $150,000 Kemper Open golf tournament. Goldstrand, a 29-year-old University of Houston product from Worthington, Minn., grabbed a one-stroke lead in the race for the $30,000 top prize with slightly over half the field in.

Goldstrand's best pro round gave him a one-stroke edge over J.C. Goosie, who shot a four-under 68 to stand alone in second place as the field of 144 fought stiff winds over the 7,230-acre Pleasant Valley course.

The pair were in front of a tight early field that had four entries deadlocked at 69, including Art Wall, Charles Sifford, Phil Rodgers and youngster Bert Greene.

Popular favorite Arnold Palmer was still on the course, while Tom Weiskopf, the leading money-winner in the field, shot a two-over 74 to rank well down among the leaders.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino shot a four-over 76.

One out away from extinction in what would have been a fantastic three-game sweep for the Wright's team, Schrade's rallied with back-to-back homers by Tony Zovistoski and Vern Darmstadter after Wright's had scored three times in the top of the seventh to take a 5-4 lead.

An how did Wright's go ahead? On back-to-back circuit blasts by Phil Vandemark and Dick Harding, that's how.

There Is More

But wait a minute, there's a prologue.

Going back to the first inning, Tony Zovistoski, the league's leading hitter who had been handcuffed in the first two games, led off with a homer. Up came Darmstadter and slammed one over the fence for Schrade's first one-two punch of the contest.

Zovistoski added a double to his two homers and knocked in two runs.

Nip Lasher, the Schrade-Walden ace, appeared to have things under control with a 4-2 lead going into the top of the seventh but things happened in a hurry.

Scratch Hit Starts It

It all started when Dave Franks got a scratch single off third baseman Darmstadter's glove. Doug Horton fled to right field for the first out, then boom, boom, the Vandemark-Harding homers.

Ron Joray, who has pitched all three games for Wright's, lost to Lasher in a battle of seven-hitters.

The teams go at it again tonight and nobody will be sure of the outcome—until the final out.

Howard's Rockets Rip Birds, 4-1

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frank Howard's second homer of the game and 42nd of the season snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning Thursday night and the Washington Senators defeated the Baltimore Orioles 4-1, snapping Dave McNally's 12-game winning streak.

The loss dropped the Orioles 8 1/2 games behind idle Detroit and reduced the Tigers' magic number for clinching the American League pennant to seven.

Howard's two homers tied the club record of 42 set by Roy Sievers in 1957 and equalled by Harmon Killebrew in 1959. The two circuits also boosted Howard's run batted in total to 102, two shy of American League leader Ken Harrelson of the Boston Red Sox.

Howard tied the score 1-1 with an awesome 465-foot drive into the upper left field stands in the fourth inning and then rocked McNally for another homer in the seventh after Tim Cullen was hit by a pitch. Howard has hit eight homers against the Orioles, including four off McNally.

The Senators added their final run in the seventh when Brant Alyea doubled, reached third on an infield out and scored on Paul Casanova's sacrifice fly.

Frank Bertina received credit for his sixth victory in 19 decisions although he was replaced by Dennis Higgins in the eighth after yielding 12 hits. Singles by Paul Blair, Brooks Robinson and Frank Robinson accounted for Baltimore's lone run in the first.

McNally, whose last loss came on July 5, five days before the All-Star game, now is 20 and 9.

Two other finals were on Thursday's crowded schedule. Mark Murro of Newark, N.J., won the javelin with a heave of 263.9.

George Young, a school teacher from Casa Grande, Ariz., captured the 3,000 meter steeplechase in 8:57.9. Bill Reilly of Oceanport, N.J., was second in 8:58.8 and Conrad Nightengale of Holstead, Kan., third in 9:04.4.

Today there will be finals in the 50-kilometer walk, hammer, triple jump, 110-meter high hurdles and 5,000 meter run. The eight-day show to produce the 1968 men's Olympic team winds up on Monday.

31% more paw in the new Wide Tiger Paw.

Now some people might say, "Okay, it's wide. But so are a lot of tires." The fact is, ours isn't just another wide tire. It's a Wide Tiger Paw.

It's 31 per cent wider than the regular Tiger Paw.

Which means it can grip any road, wet or dry.

How fast does it go? Well, it's been tested at a sustained speed of 130 miles an hour, without a failure.

How long does it last? At 90 miles an hour, it lasted 17,000 miles. (Of course, you can expect much more mileage under normal driving conditions.)

And as for its looks, well, there's that much more to look at. Including our famous red stripe. (For the less daring, there's the traditional white.)

After all, who says a beast has to look beastly?

Seagren-Carlos Track Records Under Official Fire

RECORD BOUND — Bob Seagren goes over the bar for 17 ft., 8 1/2 in. to set a new world record in the pole vault in the Olympic trials at Lake Tahoe. He beat Paul Wilson's old mark of 17 ft., 7 1/2 in. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer
SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—America's track and field stars are rewriting the record book at high altitude, but that old bugaboo—officialdom—is lurking in the background ready to cheat them out of their hard-earned rewards.

Bob Seagren, the 21-year-old jumping jack from Pomona, Calif., set a world record of 17 ft., 9 inches Thursday in the pole vault at the U.S. Olympic track and field trials. John Carlos, an angular, happy-go-lucky, runner off the sidewalks of New York, matched it with a spectacular 19.7 second world record setting performance in the 200-meter dash.

As fantastic as those records may sound, though, both Seagren and Carlos may get cheated out of them, Carlos more than Seagren.

After Seagren, a senior this fall at the University of Southern California, had cleared the pole vault bar, two different officials scaled a ladder and reported it was a 17.9 effort.

However, when the officials tried to justify 17.9 on the metric scale, they couldn't do it. So, first they announced the height at 17.8 3/4, which figures out to 5.41 on the metric scale, then thought better of it, and said the mark stands at 17.9.

A little later, after a meeting of the men's Olympic Rules Committee, it was decided to turn the matter over to the International Amateur Athletic Federation, a body composed of members from nations who use the metric system rather than feet and inches. Don't bet Seagren doesn't lose a quarter inch by the time that one is decided.

Carlos is in deeper with the officials.

It seems he used running shoes which may not be approved by the IAAF. If not, goodbye record, and also Tommie Smith's 19.9 performance for a second place finish.

The shoe in question has 68 needle like spikes across the sole. An IAAF rule says no shoe should have more than six, but the rules ambiguous in that it by a spike. The shoes Carlos and Smith used, in accordance with IAAF rules, offer no advantage except that some athletes prefer them to others for comfort reasons.

That one, too, goes to the IAAF to be muddled over.

Carlos, happy as he could be with his record—and victory over Smith—said he couldn't care less about the shoes.

"What do I care about the shoes," said the man who won the 100 dash at the Little Olympics a year ago. "I set the record, not the shoes, and the way I was juiced up I could have done it in my bare feet. Man, I was flying, and don't forget this is the first time I ever beat Smith."

Smith, who has had stomach problems since coming to 7,377-foot high Echo Summit, held the recognized record at 20 seconds flat, set a year ago at San Jose, Calif. He also broke his own mark with his 19.9 performance. And Larry Questad, a man who had never done better than 20.5 in the past, tied the Smith mark of 20 flat to gain the third Olympic berth in the 200.

It was a race which Payton Jordan, Olympic track and field team coach, called the greatest of all time.

That's no exaggeration. Consider these facts to back Southside Gun Club Plans Turkey Shoot.

Southside Rod and Gun Club of Hurley stages its annual turkey shoot Sunday, Sept. 29, at the club grounds on the Spillway Road.

Shooting will be from dawn to dusk. Running deer, flying pheasant and all types of rifle shooting will be available along with traps.

Jordan's argument. Jerry Bright and Tom Randolph finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in 20.1, and Bill Bruckel was sixth in 20.3.

Carlos, who is 23, stands 6-4 and weighs 187 pounds, still doesn't believe it. While running a semi-final heat earlier in the day, Carlos said, "but after that earlier

Schrade Nips Wright In Battle of Homers

ELLENVILLE — There has never been anything quite like it in the Ellenville Softball League—like Schrade-Walden's spectacular come-from-behind 6-5 victory over Wright's Service Station in the third game of the post-season playoffs.

One out away from extinction in what would have been a fantastic three-game sweep for the Wright's team, Schrade's rallied with back-to-back homers by Tony Zovistoski and Vern Darmstadter after Wright's had scored three times in the top of the seventh to take a 5-4 lead.

An how did Wright's go ahead? On back-to-back circuit blasts by Phil Vandemark and Dick Harding, that's how.

There Is More

But wait a minute, there's a prologue.

Going back to the first inning, Tony Zovistoski, the league's leading hitter who had been handcuffed in the first two games, led off with a homer. Up came Darmstadter and slammed one over the fence for Schrade's first one-two punch of the contest.

Zovistoski added a double to his two homers and knocked in two runs.

Nip Lasher, the Schrade-Walden ace, appeared to have things under control with a 4-2 lead going into the top of the

Unheralded Tour Player Cards Five-Under-Par 67

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—Third year pro Joel Goldstrand, who fought stiff winds over the 7,230-year Pleasant Valley course, has never quite earned expense money, shot a five-under-par 67 Thursday for the early first round lead in the $150,000 Kemper Open golf tournament.

Goldstrand, a 29-year-old University of Houston product from Worthington, Minn., grabbed a one-stroke lead in the race for the $30,000 top prize with slightly over half the field in.

Goldstrand's best pro round gave him a one-stroke edge over J.C. Goosie, who shot a four-under 68 to stand alone in second place as the field of 144 fought stiff winds over the 7,230-year Pleasant Valley course.

The pair were in front of a tight early field that had four entries deadlocked at 69, including Art Wall, Charles Sifford, Phil Rodgers and youngster Bert Greene.

Popular favorite Arnold Palmer was still on the course, while Tom Weiskopf, the leading money-winner in the field, shot a two-over 74 to rank well down among the leaders.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino shot a four-over 76.

Howard's Rockets Rip Birds, 4-1

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frank Howard's second homer of the game and 42nd of the season snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning Thursday night and the Washington Senators defeated the Baltimore Orioles 4-1, snapping Dave McNally's 12-game winning streak.

The loss dropped the Orioles 8 1/2 games behind idle Detroit and reduced the Tigers' magic number for clinching the American League pennant to seven.

Howard's two homers tied the club record of 42 set by Roy Sievers in 1957 and equaled by Harmon Killebrew in 1959. The two circuits also boosted Howard's run batted in total to 102, two shy of American League leader Ken Harrelson of the Boston Red Sox.

Howard tied the score 1-1 with an awesome 465-foot drive into the upper left field stands in the fourth inning and then rocked McNally for another homer in the seventh after Tim Lincecum was hit by a pitch. Howard has hit eight homers against the Orioles, including four off McNally.

The Senators added their final run in the seventh when Brant Alyea doubled, reached third on an infield out and scored on Paul Casanova's sacrifice fly.

Frank Bertina received credit for his sixth victory in 19 decisions although he was replaced by Dennis Higgins in the eighth after yielding 12 hits. Singles by Paul Blair, Brooks Robinson and Frank Robinson accounted for Baltimore's lone run in the first.

McNally, whose last loss came on July 5, five days before the All-Star game, now is 20 and 9.

Floyd, Jimmy Don't Talk, but Will Fight

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Jimmy Ellis, World Boxing association heavyweight champion, and former champ Floyd Patterson, who clash in a 15-round fight for the title Saturday, met personally for the first time Thursday.

Ellis and Patterson shook hands and said nice things about each other at a news conference at Stockholm's Raasunda Soccer Stadium, where the fight will be staged.

Ellis and Patterson did not speak to other but told newsmen that they like each other.

"There are no hard feelings between us," Ellis said. "I like Floyd as a good man and a good fighter."

"But in the ring he is just an opponent I have to beat. I must do my job. This is my living," he said.

"I'm in the best shape ever and prepared for a tough fight which can go the full distance. Floyd is dangerous but I'm sure I'll defend my title."

Harold Valan of New York will be the sole referee. He has handled three world champion fights, including the light heavyweight bout between Jose Torres and Dick Tiger in 1967. The Ellis-Patterson bout will be his first heavyweight title fight. Ellis' trainer, Angelo Dundee, and Patterson's trainer, Ernie Fowler, discussed the rules to be used with the referee.

Mandatory Count

The mandatory eight count will be used, the referee will not stop the fight after a three knockdowns, but will continue the counting after the bell. The scoring will be from one to four points for the winner of the round and nothing for the loser. An even round means zero-zero.

Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlqvist predicted some 30,000 fans at the stadium.

In addition, millions will be able to watch on television transmitted via satellite to the U.S., Canada, Mexico, West Germany, Austria and Yugoslavia. England and some other nations will have the fight recorded.

Ellis, a father of six, will pickup 40 per cent of the income or a guaranty of $125,000 dollars, while Patterson gets only 20 per cent of the take. He has no guaranty sum.

Ellis, a former sparring mate to Cassius Clay, has a record of 26-6 compared to Patterson's 46-6-1.

SAYS:

NEW YORK (NEA) — The pro football games count now and the proven pro football players will be counted on. Training camp and the exhibition games are over. Many of those highly regarded rookies, some of whom were minor sensations, will spend most of their time on the bench.

A lot of fans will wonder why. A lot of rookies will be puzzled, too. One prominent NFL coach gives this reason and one which I firmly agree with: "A rookie should not be depended on to play regularly for the first two years of his pro career. The game is so complex, so much faster and so much more pressurized than anything he has been accustomed to."

Go With Veterans!

So coaches go with the veterans even though the rookies might have outshone them in pre-season play and, in fact, may even be better physically. But the value of experience usually outdistances muscular talents.

I think you'll see as the season gets under way across the board use of veterans. The rookie is not prepared for the unbelievable toughness of all aspects of the game, physical and mental.

Actually, the mental barriers often overwhelm the rookie. I have seen a number of talented young players — strong, agile, fast — who have failed because they lacked mental discipline.

A rookie does not yet understand the immense preparation required. A rookie does not know how to work like a veteran. He does not know how to study for a game like a veteran. He is seldom prepared to play football as it is played in the pros.

Pro Ball Is War

College ball is a game. Pro football is closer to total war. Even some of the greatest rookies who later lived up to potential started slowly. Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus of the Bears are prime examples. Both were superstar rookies, maybe the finest first-year men in pro football history. But Papa Bear Halas brought them along with just the right amount of delicacy.

In 1965, Sayers, who might be the most gifted halfback ever to play this game, was Rookie of the Year. He was absolutely sensational, breaking the NFL record for most touchdowns in a season, 22, and running the league crazy. What is usually forgotten, however, is that Sayers did not start for the first half of the year, Jon Arnett did.

Arnett would play a quarter or more, then Sayers would go about two and one half quarters. Arnett, then in the twilight of his career, wasn't anywhere near the back Sayers was. But Halas knew that Arnett would be a stabilizing force for Sayers and would take some of the pressure off of him. It smoothed Gale's transition from college to the pros.

Butkus Was Starter

Butkus, however, was a starter immediately. At first some felt that this huge middle linebacker was not doing his job. But Halas stuck with him because of his immense ability. Butkus is an ornery type and an exceedingly hard worker. Because of sheer ability, Halas kept him in. And Butkus went from very adequate to one of the best in the game.

Others have come into prominence only after several years in the league. Les Josephson of the Rams was almost unheard of for his first few years in the NFL. Carroll Dale, only a moderate success with the Los Angeles Rams, was traded to Green Bay, got his confidence and became a standout.

Quarterback Toughest

The quarterback position is the most difficult for a new man. Frank Ryan, for example, was with the Rams for four or five years and was practically given to Cleveland. Then, boom, he was great. Bart Starr was a second stringer in his first three pro years.

Seldom does a team do well in pro ball with a rookie-studded lineup. Take the Packers now. Only two offensive linemen are under 30. Their defensive line heroes are Henry Jordan, 33, and Willie Davis, 34. Other top teams like the Rams and Colts also are loaded with vets.

A blend of youth and experience is ideal in most cases. You must be patient to be served.

See Wyoming's Cowboys Riding to Bowl Contest

By PETE ALFANO
UPI Sports Writer

Wyoming Coach Lloyd Eaton has termed 1968 as a "rebuilding year" but no one will be too surprised if his Cowboys are still playing football on New Year's Day.

Wyoming, which meets Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, has graduated the entire backfield from the 1967 squad which finished as one of the nation's top 10 teams and played LSU in the Sugar Bowl.

However the Cowboys, members of the Western Athletic Conference, are returning 30 letterman, including record-breaking end Gene Huey, and winning has become a habit at the Laramie school which boasts a 20-2 mark over the past two seasons.

The Cornhuskers, under coach Bob Devaney, will be trying to recapture their winning ways after a mediocre 6-4 season. Nebraska had won four straight Big Eight titles before losing to Oklahoma last season but the Cornhuskers are expected to be back in the thick of the race this time around. They are a one touchdown favorite over Wyoming.

In other games Saturday, Tennessee is a one touchdown favorite over Southeastern Conference rival Georgia. North Carolina State is a one-point pick over Wake Forest, and Houston is rated three touchdowns better than Tulane.

Small college champion San Diego state opens against Texas-Arlington. Buffalo is at Iowa State. Kent State goes to Dayton. Texas-El Paso hosts Santa Barbara. Colorado State is at New Mexico and Parsons is at East Carolina.

Missing from this year's edition of the Cowboys will be quarterback Paul Toscano, tailback Jim Klink, and place kicker and punter Jerry DePoyster.

Hoping to fill the void will be senior Skip Jacobsen or soph Ed Synakowski at quarterback, Joe Williams, the team's second leading rusher last season, at tailback and kicker Bob Jacobs, who booted two field goals and had a 53.1 punting average as a freshman.

Tommy Armour Dies at 72

LARCHMONT, N.Y. (AP) —

Tommy Armour, a Scotsman who recovered from severe war wounds and six months of blindness to become one of golf's all-time greats, is dead at the age of 72.

He died Wednesday night at his home here after a lengthy illness.

One of the great iron and brassie players, Armour was the first professional to win the four big tournaments of his day — the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Canadian Open.

He also won the French Amateur in 1920, his first major success, in addition to a number of smaller tournaments during the early days of the PGA tour.

In 1914, Armour enlisted in the famed Black Watch High-land Regiment. He saw action at the front and suffered severe wounds, particularly to his left arm, legs and eyes. At Ypres, he was blinded for six months but finally recovered the sight in his right eye.

Fran Tarkenton

SAYS:

NEW YORK (NEA) — The pro football games count now and the proven pro football players will be counted on. Training camp and the exhibition games are over. Many of those highly regarded rookies, some of whom were minor sensations, will spend most of their time on the bench.

A lot of fans will wonder why. A lot of rookies will be puzzled, too. One prominent NFL coach gives this reason and one which I firmly agree with: "A rookie should not be depended on to play regularly for the first two years of his pro career. The game is so complex, so much faster and so much more pressurized than anything he has been accustomed to."

Go With Veterans!

So coaches go with the veterans even though the rookies might have outshone them in pre-season play and, in fact, may even be better physically. But the value of experience usually outdistances muscular talents.

I think you'll see as the season gets under way across the board use of veterans. The rookie is not prepared for the unbelievable toughness of all aspects of the game, physical and mental.

Actually, the mental barriers often overwhelm the rookie. I have seen a number of talented young players — strong, agile, fast — who have failed because they lacked mental discipline.

A rookie does not yet understand the immense preparation required. A rookie does not know how to work like a veteran. He does not know how to study for a game like a veteran. He is seldom prepared to play football as it is played in the pros.

Pro Ball Is War

College ball is a game. Pro football is closer to total war. Even some of the greatest rookies who later lived up to potential started slowly. Gale Sayers and Dick Butkus of the Bears are prime examples. Both were superstar rookies, maybe the finest first-year men in pro football history. But Papa Bear Halas brought them along with just the right amount of delicacy.

In 1965, Sayers, who might be the most gifted halfback ever to play this game, was Rookie of the Year. He was absolutely sensational, breaking the NFL record for most touchdowns in a season, 22, and running the league crazy. What is usually forgotten, however, is that Sayers did not start for the first half of the year, Jon Arnett did.

Arnett would play a quarter or more, then Sayers would go about two and one half quarters. Arnett, then in the twilight of his career, wasn't anywhere near the back Sayers was. But Halas knew that Arnett would be a stabilizing force for Sayers and would take some of the pressure off of him. It smoothed Gale's transition from college to the pros.

Butkus Was Starter

Butkus, however, was a starter immediately. At first some felt that this huge middle linebacker was not doing his job. But Halas stuck with him because of his immense ability. Butkus is an ornery type and an exceedingly hard worker. Because of sheer ability, Halas kept him in. And Butkus went from very adequate to one of the best in the game.

Others have come into prominence only after several years in the league. Les Josephson of the Rams was almost unheard of for his first few years in the NFL. Carroll Dale, only a moderate success with the Los Angeles Rams, was traded to Green Bay, got his confidence and became a standout.

Quarterback Toughest

The quarterback position is the most difficult for a new man. Frank Ryan, for example, was with the Rams for four or five years and was practically given to Cleveland. Then, boom, he was great. Bart Starr was a second stringer in his first three pro years.

Seldom does a team do well in pro ball with a rookie-studded lineup. Take the Packers now. Only two offensive linemen are under 30. Their defensive line heroes are Henry Jordan, 33, and Willie Davis, 34. Other top teams like the Rams and Colts also are loaded with vets.

A blend of youth and experience is ideal in most cases. You must be patient to be served.

See Wyoming's Cowboys Riding to Bowl Contest

By PETE ALFANO

UPI Sports Writer

Wyoming Coach Lloyd Eaton has termed 1968 as a "rebuilding year" but no one will be too surprised if his Cowboys are still playing football on New Year's Day.

Wyoming, which meets Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, has graduated the entire backfield from the 1967 squad which finished as one of the nation's top 10 teams and played LSU in the Sugar Bowl.

However the Cowboys, members of the Western Athletic Conference, are returning 30 letterman, including record-breaking end Gene Huey, and winning has become a habit at the Laramie school which boasts a 20-2 mark over the past two seasons.

The Cornhuskers, under coach Bob Devaney, will be trying to recapture their winning ways after a mediocre 6-4 season. Nebraska had won four straight Big Eight titles before losing to Oklahoma last season but the Cornhuskers are expected to be back in the thick of the race this time around. They are a one touchdown favorite over Wyoming.

In other games Saturday, Tennessee is a one touchdown favorite over Southeastern Conference rival Georgia. North Carolina State is a one-point pick over Wake Forest, and Houston is rated three touchdowns better than Tulane.

Small college champion San Diego state opens against Texas-Arlington. Buffalo is at Iowa State. Kent State goes to Dayton. Texas-El Paso hosts Santa Barbara. Colorado State is at New Mexico and Parsons is at East Carolina.

Missing from this year's edition of the Cowboys will be quarterback Paul Toscano, tailback Jim Kick, and place kicker and punter Jerry DePoyster.

Hoping to fill the void will be senior Skip Jacobsen or soph Ed Synakowski at quarterback. Joe Williams, the team's second leading rusher last season, at tailback and kicker Bob Jacobs, who booted two field goals and had a 53.1 punting average as a freshman.

Tommy Armour Dies at 72

LARCHMONT, N.Y. (AP) —

Tommy Armour, a Scotsman who recovered from severe war wounds and six months of blindness to become one of golf's all-time greats, is dead at the age of 72.

He died Wednesday night at his home here after a lengthy illness.

One of the great iron and brassie players, Armour was the first professional to win the four big tournaments of his day — the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Canadian Open.

He also won the French Amateur in 1920, his first major success, in addition to a number of smaller tournaments during the early days of the PGA tour.

Federation Passes 'Dump Javits' Motion

HIGH WOODS — Following a heated debate at their first fall meeting, member clubs of Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County last night by a 14-4 vote, with eight abstentions, adopted a "Dump Javits" resolution introduced by the ad hoc committee known as the Saugerties Area Sportsmen.

Most of the abstentions came from clubs that had not had a chance to discuss the matter with their members, or those who had not yet met.

Some clubs declined to participate on the grounds their by-laws prohibited involvement in politics.

The verbal fireworks were touched when club representatives disagreed on whether or not the Federation should get involved in the move to "dump Javits" long advocated by the Saugerties Area Sportsmen.

When it was agreed to put the resolution to a vote, the result was decisively in favor of campaigning actively against the senior senator from New York because of his stand on controversial gun legislation.

In other business, the Federation received notice from the State Conservation Department that at present there are no plans to stock the Ashokan Reservoir with coho salmon.

Don Warren, president of Trout Unlimited, outlined the purposes of the organization and sought the cooperation of all sportsmen in their drive to attain pure water for all. Federation announced the release of adult pheasants on Saturday, Sept. 28, with a rain date of Oct. 5. Only paid up member clubs are eligible for birds and they must be picked up at the Pine Pheasant Farm from 11 to 12 that day. The pheasants were obtained under the Legislature's Enabling Act. Next meeting was set for Oct. 17 at the Marletown Sportsmen's Club.

Major Hoople's Forecast!

Top-Flight Clubs See Early Action; Hoople Likes Nebraska and Georgia

(Editor's Note: That fabulous football pundit, Major Amos Hoople, makes his annual debut today with his fearless predictions of opening college games. Next week, he moves into the area inter-scholastic field. Don't miss him.)

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Prognosticator

Egad, friends, here we are on the threshold of another challenging nickskin season for the Hoople Football Forecast.

The college clubs this year are bigger, faster and smarter than ever, and while most of the incoming freshmen are still trying to find their way from the dining halls to the dorms, several of the top-flight eleven are preparing to meet head-on!

The kickoff weekend matches such well-regarded teams as Wyoming's Cowboys (10-0-0 in 1967) and always rugged Nebraska, high-scoring Houston and optimistic Tulane, and Georgia's determined Bulldogs and the Tennessee Vols, the defending Southeastern Conference champs.

The opening contest in Atlantic Coast Conference competition pits player-rich Wake Forest (32-lettermen) against highly-regarded North Carolina State. In a traditional intrastate battle, those mighty mites of Ohio football—Miami and Xavier—clash at Cincinnati.

Real Tough Day

a perfect card for you—har-rumph!

The Hoople System foresees the day's leading contest providing the season's first upset—kaff-kaff—as the Georgia lads tant, Chet Thinkley, "the human computer," has prepared nessee Volunteers. The Bulldogs will prevail 22-19!

At Lincoln, Nebraska, the offense-minded Cornhuskers will edge Wyoming, 28-27, in a thrilling aerial duel!

Selects Houston

In the other engagements mentioned above, watch for Houston to top Tulane, 21-16. Wake Forest to squeeze past North Carolina State, 30-28, and Xavier and Miami to battle to a 10-10 stalemate—um-kumph!

The latter contest, incidentally, caused Hannibal Wottaburp, the pride of Missouri and long-time member of the Hoople forecasting team, to remark: "You can't show me an iota of difference between these two fine teams!"

NEW YORK (AP) — Only 17 more weeks to the Super Bowl!

The only trouble is, in those 17 weeks there will be 183 football games in the National and American leagues, and there's at least one pro prognosticator who will be relieved if only 92 of those go his way.

Actually there are 186 games from the start of the season until the Super Bowl, or AFL-NFL World Championship Game as Pete Rozelle and friends prefer, but the first three games came up so quickly there was no time to think about the winners, let alone the scores.

Speaking of scores, there's no trace of last season's record. It went the way of the kick for the extra point in the interleague exhibition games (preseason games, to Pete and his friends). But unlike the kick which is back for the regular season, the record isn't.

So here goes what the record is—nothing. All games are Sunday unless otherwise noted.

AFL

Houston 21, Miami 7—Saturday night—Pete Beathard, improved immensely from last year, will have more than enough left over from late fourth-quarter rally that fell just short against Kansas City. Oakland 28, Buffalo 6—Rookies Dan Darragh, Haven Moses, Ben Gregory and others continue their on-the-job training and this time get a lesson from the masters.

Cincinnati 17, Denver 10—Quarterback Dewey Warren and fellow rookies make quarterback-trouble Broncos look like the expansion team as Paul Brown gets his first regular season victory since 1962.

New York 16, Kansas City 12—Jets' defense rugged but can't play high enough to stop Jan Stenerud's field goals.

NFL

Minnesota 24, Atlanta 14—Saturday night—Vikings shut out linebacker Tommy Nobis on interceptions and finally trim Falcons.

Green Bay 28, Philadelphia 3—A nice easy one for debuting Phil Bengtson to show off in front of boss Lombardi.

Riding Club Sets Field-Fun Day

Woodstock Riding Club will hold its annual field day Sunday starting at 9 a. m. at the club's show ring on lower Ohayo Mountain in Woodstock.

Twenty six classes are scheduled for the fun-day show. Some of the unusual classes for the day are Woodstock Old Timers, donkey, costume and the family class.

Two championships will be awarded—one for English and the other for high point Western horse and rider.

Classes for the day:

1. Model English horse; 2. Model Western; 3. Open English Bareback Horsemanship; 4. Open Western; 5. Junior English Equitation; 6. Junior Western; 7. Old Timers; 8. Obedience; 9. Lead Line; 10. Costume; 11. Road Hack; 12. Maiden Pleasure Western.

13. Maiden Pleasure English; 14. Open Stock; 15. Open English Jumping; 16. Donkey; 17. Barrel; 18. Open Pleasure Driving; 19. Walk-Trot; 20. Western Pleasure; 21. English Pleasure; 22. Family; 23. Senior Western Horsemanship; 24. Senior English Equitation; 25. Open Trail; 26. Ride-A-Buck.

Jones Tickets Selling Fast

Ticket sales for the Addison Jones inaugural dinner are selling so rapidly that a sellout is predicted before the Sept. 23 deadline, chairman Albert O. Sonnenberg has announced.

The dinner, scheduled Sept. 28 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, will honor Jones on his elevation to the presidency of the New York State Bowling Association.

Sonnenberg said all persons who have made tentative reservations must confirm them before Sept. 23.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BATTING—Frank Howard, Senators, slammed two home runs, his 41st and 42nd of the season, driving in three runs in Washington's 4-1 victory over Baltimore.

PITCHING—Dennis Higgins, Senators, pitched 1 1/3 innings of hitless relief, nailing down Washington's 4-1 victory over Baltimore.

The favorite in the field of eight at 3-2, Starlight Way, who had two previous money races this year, and took one of them, paid $5.00, 4.40 and 3.40. Pinhaven Doll (2-Harold Stayton) finished second and returned $8.40 and 4.20 while Harlan Newport (1-Mike Vicidomini) had a $4.20 payoff.

The daily double of numbers 6 and 5, Christian Adios and Chick Pick, was worth a smashing $431.20.

Monticello Race To Starlight Way

MONTICELLO — Starlight Way, a familiar face last year at Monticello Raceway, but making his first appearance this year at the Mighty M, breezed to a three length victory in last night's featured $2,000 trotting the Sullivan County oval in 2:08.2.

Owned by Ira and Beverly Kristel and driven by Joe Schlichtig, Starlight Way left from post four and showed she hadn't forgotten the track where she hung up a 2:04.1 lifetime half mile track mark last year.

The favorite in the field of eight at 3-2, Starlight Way, who had two previous money races this year, and took one of them, paid $5.00, 4.40 and 3.40. Pinehaven Doll (2-Harold Stayton) finished second and returned $8.40 and 4.20 while Harlan Newport (1-Mike Vicidomini) had a $4.20 payoff.

Potters First With 15-0 Mark

Potter Brothers Sporting Goods Yankees compiled a perfect 15-0 record in winning the 1968 Town of Esopus Little League championship.

The strong arm for the undefeated champs was Charles Barton, who started and won nine straight games. He was also among the league's top home run hitters with four. Michael Lucas slammed three. Brian Shlightner had a home run and team high batting average.

Order of finish was: Potter Brothers Sporting Goods Yankees; Callanan Road Improvement Mets, Port Ewen Fire Department Giants, Esopus Lions Club Dodgers, Montauk Insurance Indians, Hercules Powder Braves.

Touch Football At Saugerties

SAUGERTIES — The newly formed eight-team Saugerties Touch Football League opens its season with doubleheaders on Sept. 17 and Sept. 19. There will be no postponements because of weather.

Eight teams in the loop sponsored by the Saugerties Athletic Association are: A. J. Scarselli's, Boo's Tavern, Busters, Campbells, McConekey Funeral Home, Panthers, South Side Hotel and Ted's Esso.

Sept. 17 — 6:30: Buster's vs. South Side Hotel; 8 p.m.: Boo's vs. Campbells.

Sept. 19 — Panther's vs. McConekey's; 8 p.m.: Ted's vs. Scarselli's.

MONTICELLO — Billy Houghton had his problems finding a driver for one or the other of his powerful entry in tonight's $15,000 Sullivan County Free-for-All Trot at Monticello Raceway. And usually, most drivers would leap at the opportunity to handle either Flamboyant or Carlisle, Houghton's pair of classy trotters.

Flamboyant, a four-year-old mare, and Carlisle, a five-year-old stallion, have each won over $100,000 this season. Flamboyant, a newly crowned world champion, has won $165,732 this year, Carlisle so far has banked $109,950.

They have raced as an entry severa' times this year and when that was the case, Bill drove Carlisle and either Johnny Chapman or George Sholtz teamed Flamboyant. So with Johnny Chapman still bed-ridden with bronchial pneumonia, it was assumed Sholtz would be in Flamboyant's bike for tonight's race of the year at the Mighty M.

Sholtz, however, was committed to mounts at Yonkers Raceway so an effort was made to get Delvin Miller's services for Carlisle with Boss-Man Bill to skipper Flamboyant. That didn't work either, Miller being tied up in Harness Tracks of America meetings in Detroit.

Are Co-Favorites

Thus Houghton called on capable Glen Garmsey to chauffeur Carlisle and Bill will drive Flamboyant. They are the 5-2 favorites on the morning line to defeat Argo Port, Grandpa Jim, Stereo Hanover, Earl Laird, Fresh Yankee and Jamie's Beauty.

Garmsey, head trainer for the Big K. D. Owen Stable of Texas, is one of the sport's top reinsmen and he has been using Monticello as his home base for the last month. Two weeks ago, he won the Saturday night feature with Owens Silent Byrd in a quick 2:02.

Houghton, of course, is harness racing's Mr. Everything. He has won more races and more money than any other driver living or dead.

Set World Record

Bill takes Flamboyant, a daughter of Florican-Meg's Melody whose 2:00 2/5 victory at Yonkers on Aug. 2 was a new world record, away from the three post position. Garmsey drives Carlisle, a son of Hickory Pride-Good Note who owns a 1:59 2/5 mark and lifetime earnings of nearly $500,000, from the six alley.

The coveted pole position belongs to Argo Port and driver Jimmy Silver. Jim reined Argo to three triumphs this year, the fastest in 2:01 3/5 at Vernon Downs.

Fabre was congratulated by Francisco Javier Miranda, administrator of the Olympic Village for being the first foreign visitor to live in the Village.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Giuseppe Fabre, member of the Italian delegation to the Olympic Games, became Thursday the first inhabitant of the Olympic Village, Liberator Manuel Hidalgo.

UNLIMITED BUSINESS OFFER FOR SINCERE DIGNIFIED AMBITIOUS PEOPLE

This is an unusual opportunity for a serious, dedicated individual to become a sole owner in a semi-professional business for himself (or herself) selling a vitally needed, home use, professional service.

DENTAL HYGIENE APPLIANCE

for the entire family! All 99.888 practicing dentists in the U.S. know this product and its concept. And, as a matter of fact, a vast majority of dentists recommended its use. In the past, we have sold this appliance directly to dentists on a consignment basis. Now, we've been overwhelmed with individual orders. We can accommodate quadrupled sales. So, we need help.

WE NEED RELIABLE PEOPLE

who can earn up to $20,000 a year. You may not be employed as a teacher, secretary, supervisor, homemaker, landscaper, etc., it doesn't matter. Because you can develop as many or as few hours as you wish to sell this product. It can be a profitable full time or part time occupation. Yes, it's also ideal for semi-retirees who can appreciate the value of good oral hygiene.

HERE'S WHAT'S INCLUDED:

- Desire to be your own boss
- Work whenever, however you wish
- No cash investment
- No costly inventories
- Demonstration units available
- One year unconditional product guarantee

Dear Abby

'Burned' on Cancellation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am so burned up right now I could be treated for 3d degree burns.

Last week, seven girls and I were to be in a big church wedding which never took place. All of us girls had paid for our own gowns, shoes to match, head pieces, and accessories, which came to a nice sum. Four days before the wedding the bride changed her mind and called the wedding off!

I think it's the bride's duty to pay us girls back for the money we forked out. Only two of the other girls agree with me. What do you think?

DEAR BURNED: I think it would be lovely if all the brides who "changed their minds" were able to reimburse the girls for the money they "forked out." Unfortunately, few are. I'm afraid you are out of luck and out of pocket. I don't blame you for being "burned up," but try to cool off before you make an ash of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, having raised a fine family. They're all over 21 now. Their father has been gone since they were mere babies. I had no financial help, so it has been a struggle.

My husband died in a sanitarium from a form of insanity as a result of a social disease. (I told everyone he had a "stroke" and it affected his brain.)

My children have never questioned their father's illness or death. I have always built him up as a fine man. He was in a way, but he paid with his life for his indiscretions.

How much should I tell my children? Part of it? Or all of it?

FEELING GUILTY
DEAR FEELING: None of it. I can't think of one good reason for you to now destroy the fine image your children have of their father. In this case your silence is more golden than "guilt."

DEAR ABBY: Aunt Lucy was widowed, and being up in years she didn't have much to do. She had always enjoyed writing, mostly poems and little short stories. I work for a newspaper so she let me read her "collection," and while they were sweet, they had no literary style or special value. But Lucy's friends thought they were "wonderful" and urged her to find a publisher.

All the legitimate publishers she sent her stuff to, sent it back immediately. But Lucy kept trying, and she finally found a "publisher."

For $2,000 they promised to publish her "masterpieces of literature" and practically guaranteed her a best seller with TV and radio interviews and autograph parties in all the major cities, etc.

I told Aunt Lucy not to send them $2,000, which she could ill afford, but she did anyway.

A few months later, she was delivered 50 copies of her "book," which she was asked to distribute to book stores, newspapers, etc. The public libraries wouldn't touch them, and the ones in the local bookstores failed to sell and were given back to her.

Finally her publishers told her they couldn't promote a book that didn't even sell in her home town, and they offered to SELL her (at half price!) all those they had on hand. (This, after she'd paid $2,000) They said she could either try to sell them herself, or give them to friends as gifts.

Needless to say, Aunt Lucy is heart-broken. I don't know how these "publishers" can get away with this sort of thing, but apparently it's legal. Perhaps if you print this letter it may save others from being hurt.

CONCERNED NIECE
DEAR CONCERNED: May I add another helpful note: People who enter into "business deals" should FIRST consult a competent lawyer before signing anything. And would-be authors would do well to work for agents.

CONFIDENTIAL TO

"WORRIED ABOUT GRAMP." All men do not get "goofy" after a certain age, but your father sounds as tho he should (A) see a doctor, (B) be carefully watched.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HATE TO WRITE LETTERS? SEND $1 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069, FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS." (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a. m. WKNY-1490)

West's two no-trump call was one of the modern gadgets called "the unusual no-trump." It has nothing to do with no-trump but shows a minor two-suit hand.

Both Montreal and Minneapolis used this convention in their match and it worked very well for Minneapolis on the hand in the box. South wound up playing four hearts only.

The bidding shows how Ron DeHarpporte and Newt Dockman of Minneapolis countered this unusual no-trump. Ron's bid of three diamonds said, "Partner, I am making a cue bid to show a good hand with heart support." The fact that he did hold the ace of diamonds was incidental.

Ron's later bid of five diamonds showed this ace and Newt's six-club call was a belated grand slam invitation. Ron did not accept because he knew that at one stage of the proceedings Newt had been willing to stop at game.

West opened the king of diamonds, Newt won in dummy and led a heart to his ace. West showed out and Ron saw problems. He could not afford to draw trumps because he would have no entry to dummy except the spades. He solved his problem by deciding that West's unusual no-trump with practically no high cards must have been based on at least 11 minor suit cards.

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of spades and led the jack. East played low but that did him no good. Newt discarded his eight of clubs. Then he played dummy's second diamond. Later he ruffed his last diamond with the queen of trumps and made the slam.

All of which goes to show that these modern bids don't always work out so well. If West had not bid this unusual no-trump, South would not have known how to play the spades and might well have gone down. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

Forecast for Saturday, September 14, 1968

ARIES (March 21-Apr. 19): Avoid friction with co-workers, associates. Indications are that at social get-together a dispute could arise. Practice moderation. Stimulating discussion should not turn into argument. Be calm.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Overcome tendency to overspend. Don't get carried away with desire to impress others. Simplicity, quality should be name of the game. Opposite sex may be supersensitive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Long-range plans are subject to change. Today you find out that family member may be less than pleased. Be considerate, objective. Don't take offense at constructive criticism.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Hold off on unnecessary journey. Additional facts are forthcoming. You don't know all you need to know. If patient, puzzle pieces will fall together. Be an analyst. Find out why.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Study TAURUS message. Avoid extravagance. You may want to entertain, but don't strain budget. Accent is on pleasing others without hurting yourself. See persons in realistic light.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): People today see various sides of your character, personality. You may be surprised at some reactions. Necessary to maintain sense of humor. Obtain hint from GEMINI message.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): What was hidden erupts into open. This could cause you to take some backward steps. Don't fear the unknown. When the clouds clear your image will be bright. Message understood tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Some friends appear pugnacious. Don't be discouraged.

Present original plans, proposals. Reaction may be delayed, but you ultimately benefit through frank approach. State case with clarity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Trying to get your own way could irritate partners. Realize there are temporary limitations. Today strive to finish major project in gracious manner. New adventure is due.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): If impatient, you chase opportunity. Key is to sharpen sense of timing. Know when to proceed when to wait. Today, emphasis points to moderate pace. What is needed comes to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Emotions attempt to take over from logic. Remember, you have to face yourself in the morning. Be sensible. Have fun without damaging your reputation. Word to wise should be sufficient.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Review obligations, especially in legal area. Short cuts could turn out to be long, expensive. Know this and act accordingly. Strengthen domestic ties. Extend hand of friendship.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are analytical, should be good at expressing yourself with written word. If single, marriage could be close at hand. If married, a new enterprise begins to pay dividends.

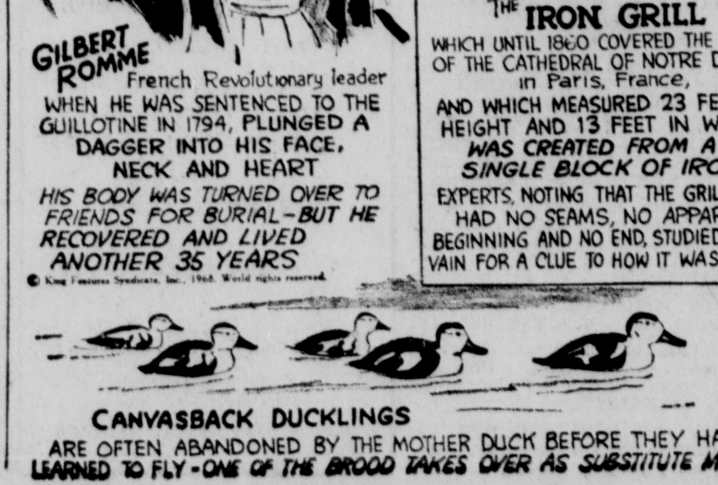

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Basic services people take for granted could be disrupted. (To find out who's lucky for you in money and love, order Sydney Omarr's booklet, "Secret Hints for Men and Women." ## Today's Word

By ROBERT FYNNE and ERNEST PETERSAK

"And please! Don't let it be the picture tube!"

Dear Abby

'Burned' on Cancellation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am so burned up right now I could be treated for 3rd degree burns.

Last week, seven girls and I were to be in a big church wedding which never took place. All of us girls had paid for our own gowns, shoes to match, head pieces, and accessories, which came to a nice sum. Four days before the wedding the bride changed her mind and called the wedding off!

I think it's the bride's duty to pay us girls back for the money we forked out. Only two of the other girls agree with me. What do you think?

BURNED: I think it would be lovely if all the brides who "changed their minds" were able to reimburse the girls for the money they "forked out." Unfortunately, few are. I'm afraid you are out of luck and out of pocket. I don't blame you for being "burned up," but try to cool off before you make an ash of yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, having raised a fine family. They're all over 21 now. Their father has been gone since they were mere babies. I had no financial help, so it has been a struggle.

My husband died in a sanitarium from a form of insanity as a result of a social disease. (I told everyone he had a "stroke" and it affected his brain.)

My children have never questioned their father's illness or death. I have always built him up as a fine man. He was in a way, but he paid with his life for his indiscretions.

How much should I tell my children? Part of it? Or all of it? FEELING GUILTY DEAR FEELING: None of it. I can't think of one good reason for you to now destroy the fine image your children have of their father. In this case your silence is more golden than "guilt."

DEAR ABBY: Aunt Lucy was widowed, and being up in years she didn't have much to do. She had always enjoyed writing, mostly poems and little short stories. I work for a newspaper so she let me read her "collection," and while they were sweet, they had no literary style or special value. But Lucy's friends thought they were "wonderful" and urged her to find a publisher.

All the legitimate publishers she sent her stuff to, sent it back immediately. But Lucy kept trying, and she finally found a "publisher."

For $2,000 they promised to publish her "masterpieces of literature" and practically guaranteed her a best seller with TV and radio interviews and autograph parties in all the major cities, etc.

I told Aunt Lucy not to send them $2,000, which she could ill afford, but she did anyway.

A few months later, she was delivered 50 copies of her "book," which she was asked to distribute to book stores, newspapers, etc. The public libraries wouldn't touch them, and the ones in the local bookstores failed to sell and were given back to her.

Finally her publishers told her they couldn't promote a book that didn't even sell in her home town, and they offered to SELL her (at half price!) all those they had on hand. (This, after she'd paid $2,000) They said she could either try to sell them herself, or give them to friends as gifts. Needless to say, Aunt Lucy is heart-broken. I don't know how these "publishers" can get away with this sort of thing, but apparently it's legal. Perhaps if you print this letter it may save others from being hurt.

CONCERNED NIECE DEAR CONCERNED: May I add another helpful note: People who enter into "business deals" should FIRST consult a competent lawyer before signing anything. And would-be authors would do well to work for agents.

CONFIDENTIAL TO

"WORRIED ABOUT GRAMP?" All men do not get "goofy" after a certain age, but your father sounds as tho he should (A) see a doctor, (B) be carefully watched.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HATE TO WRITE LETTERS? SEND $1 TO ABBY, BOX 69700, LOS ANGELES, CAL. 90069, FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS." (Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a. m. WKNY-1490)

West's two no-trump call was one of the modern gadgets called "the unusual no-trump." It has nothing to do with no-trump but shows a minor two-suit hand.

Both Montreal and Minneapolis used this convention in their match and it worked very well for Minneapolis on the hand in the box. South wound up playing four hearts only.

The bidding shows how Ron DeHarpo and Newt Dockman of Minneapolis countered this unusual no-trump. Ron's bid of three diamonds said, "Partner, I am making a cue bid to show a good hand with heart support." The fact that he did hold the ace of diamonds was incidental.

Ron's later bid of five diamonds showed this ace and Newt's six-club call was a belated grand slam invitation. Ron did not accept because he knew that at one stage of the proceedings Newt had been willing to stop at game.

West opened the king of diamonds. Newt won in dummy and led a heart to his ace. West showed out and Ron saw problems. He could not afford to draw trumps because he would have no entry to dummy except the spades. He solved his problem by deciding that West's unusual no-trump with practically no high cards must have been based on at least 11 minor suit cards.

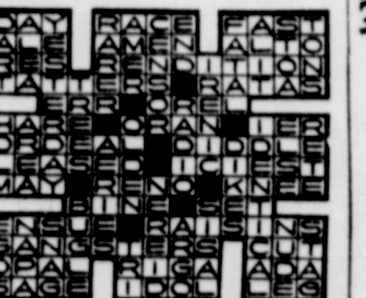

Then he cashed dummy's ace and king of spades and led the jack. East played low but that did him no good. Newt discarded his eight of clubs. Then he played dummy's second diamond. Later he ruffed his last diamond with the queen of diamonds and made the slam.

All of which goes to show that these modern bids don't always work out so well. If West had not bid the unusual no-trump, South would not have known how to play the spades and might well have gone down. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

New NBC Drama Off to Flying Start

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — "On Stage," NBC's new series of original dramas, was off to a flying start Thursday with Rod Serling's "Certain Honorable Men," a play about politics that seemed to have had its genesis in recent newspaper headlines. Van Heflin, that fine actor, played the part of Champ Donahue, a congressman from New York, who after 30 years of playing a game of patronage and power, was exposed as a man who dealt in kickbacks, petty graft and collusion. The exposure came through 28-year-old Robbie Conroy, a former Donahue aide. The young man was one of a group of Young Turks eager to control the party and remodel it. He got the wind of Donahue's shady dealings and then persuaded a girl in the congressman's office to remove some of the politician's papers from his file. The part was played with icy effectiveness by Peter Fonda.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Vado Mark Rep.

In a certain western city there lives a clergyman who frequently speaks with pride of his record as a "marrying parson." To a Chicago friend who visited him not long ago, he said, Rev. Blake—Why, do you know that I marry about 30 couples a week, right here in this parsonage? Mr. Bass (the Chicago man)—Parsonage? I should call it the Union Depot. We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another. A tactless person is one who says what everyone else is thinking. A high school girl, seated next to a famous astronomer at a dinner party, struck up a conversation, asking, Judy—What do you do in life? He replied, M. R. Cross—I study astronomy. Judy—Dear me, I finished astronomy last year. A man failed to remove his hat when he entered a church, and was presently sighted by a horrified deacon, who quietly drew the man's attention to his apparent forgetfulness. The man explained that he had been worshipping in that church for three years, without anyone speaking to him, and he thought the hat might do the trick. Mrs. Cobb—Isn't it dreadful? The minister's son has decided to become a jockey. He was to have been a minister, you know. Mrs. Case—Well, he'll bring a lot more people to repentance than he would as a minister. A husband is a guy who's powerful enough to rip the phone out when his wife uses it too much, but he can't twist open a little jar top. The usual question had been put to the tramp. Mack (the tramp)—Why did I take up this life, Mum? Well, I'll tell you. My family doctor was responsible. Mrs. Jones—Oh, I don't believe that. Mack (the tramp)—It's the truth. He advised me to take long walks after meals. Taking off a turtle-neck sweater is a hair-raising experience.

S. Viet Mobilization Draws 240,000 Men

By BARRY KRAMER
SAIGON (AP) — The results of South Vietnam's general mobilization far exceed the government's expectations. It has drawn more than 240,000 men into the armed forces, officials say.

"This is about 30 per cent above what we expected," said one official. The total includes 63,000 young draftees and an amazing 161,000 volunteers. This has boosted the regular armed forces to more than 755,000 men, with 800,000 expected by the end of the year. Additionally, 400,000 men serve in loosely organized, sparsely armed local defense units, most of them in the cities and their suburbs.

Higher Than Last Year

Officials said the large number of volunteers probably resulted from the desire of the young men to have some choice of assignment. The number of draftees, although less than half the total of volunteers, is considerably higher than the draft figure for last year. Officials say that 20 to 30 per cent of the men called up are rejected because they are physically unfit.

The general mobilization law enacted last June makes men 17 to 43 subject to the draft, veterans and reserves.

Until the end of July, men 18 to 33, including veterans and reserves with less than five years service, were called. Each month the draft call goes to an older class of men. Officials say they won't know until the end of the year whether 17-year-olds and men 39 to 43 will be needed.

The law includes a program of deferments, but these are hard to get and the requirements are strictly enforced by a board which decides each case.

There are the usual deferments for the only surviving son, students, Buddhist monks, Roman Catholic priests and for physical defects.

Private companies, government offices and U.S. government agencies are required to categorize their employees on an A-F basis. "A" meaning indefinite deferment, "F" meaning no deferment, and the letters in between recommending deferments of one year to three months.

Indefinite deferments are given only to such employees as plant managers, the director general of a company, scientists, engineers and sales managers.

Within Age Limits

Students have to pass their year-end exams and be within certain age limits to keep their deferments. No one over 19 can enter college.

Agnew Withdraws Earlier Charge

By JOHN WOODFIELD
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew has withdrawn his charge that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is soft on communism.

"Had I ever realized the effect that this expression would have, I would have shunned it like the plague," the Republican vice presidential nominee said at a news conference Thursday.

"I would frankly call the use of that particular phrase on my part an error," the Maryland governor said.

Agnew said he was not aware when he made the remark in a Washington news conference this week that it would be interpreted against the political background of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, whose charges of communism in government led to countercharges of witchhunts.

Agnew said that had he known his remark criticizing the Democratic presidential nominee "would in some way cast me as the Joe McCarthy of 1968, I would have turned five somersaults to avoid saying it."

The soft-on-communism remark led some political observers to believe that Agnew had been designated the hard-line campaigner and that GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon would take a loftier position on issues.

Agnew said, however, that he wanted to get off the low road of politics.

Before he retracted the phrase, the Republican congressional leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, expressed disapproval of the remark at a Washington news conference.

Agnew said he had not been contacted by Nixon or any Nixon aides but said he spoke with Dirksen shortly after his arrival in Rochester.

"It would seem to me that there's been too much attention to the line they call the wormy side of the campaign, I said squishy-soft and I am not proud of it," Agnew said.

"So we are going to try to get off these catch phrases—as far as I am concerned we are going to get off of them—and move to the substantive issues of the campaign," he said.

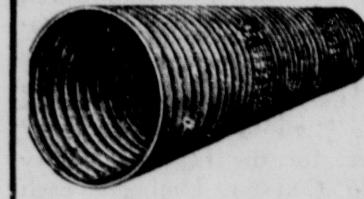

In his speech to a Republican rally here Thursday night, Agnew did not mention Humphrey by name. He attacked the domestic and foreign policies of the Johnson administration.

Agnew blamed the furor that erupted partly on the fact that "I have been confined to state and local government."

"You gentlemen are far more aware of the nuances of national political sayings than I am at this point," he said to reporters. Agnew campaigns in Erie, Pa. and Chicago today.

Red Albania to Quit Warsaw Pact in . . .

BELGRADE (UPI)—Communist Albania vowed to quit the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact military alliance today, something Hungary once tried and no other member before or since has dared try.

There was no speculation the Soviets would try physically to stop the Albanians, who are Communist Chinese allies and have been cold-shouldered out of Pact activities since 1961.

But Premier Mehmet Shehu warned the Russians, just in case, that "the 700 million Chinese people" will help deal with any Soviet retaliation.

The Albanian parliament was meeting today to vote on Shehu's withdrawal decision, made in a speech broadcast over Tirana Radio Thursday and monitored here. Approval was considered certain.

Shehu urged official withdrawal from the military pact because of the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

He said Soviet "aggression" against Czechoslovakia proved that the Kremlin has converted the Warsaw Pact "from a peace treaty into a treaty of enslaving war, from a treaty of defense against imperialism into an aggressive treaty against the socialist countries themselves."

Albania, a tiny Balkan state on the Adriatic Sea facing Italy, has no common borders with the Soviet Union. It is bounded by Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece.

Hungary's rebel government vowed to do so before the Soviets crushed their revolution in 1956.

Bingo Profits Down in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Bingo profits declined $684,400, annual report of the State Bingo Control Commission for the period ending March 31, 1968, showed Thursday.

Net profits for the 1,774 licenses conducting bingo from Oct. 1, 1967 to March 31, 1968 was $14,236,700 compared to $14,921,100 for the period ending Sept. 30, 1967.

800 Red Soldiers Blasted At Cambodian Artillery Post

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. infantrymen outnumbered 2 to 1 today blasted 800 Communist soldiers from the edges of their Cambodian border artillery outpost on an escape route from Tay Ninh. There were no U.S. fatalities.

Fresh fighting erupted in the suburbs of Tay Ninh City, two miles away, between rearguard Communist units and South Vietnamese troops.

The U.S. soldiers at fire support base Buell weathered a three-hour pounding from 600 Communist rocket and mortar shells, then poured automatic weapons and tank cannon fire into the surging waves of Red troops attacking from two directions.

U.S. jet fighters swooped in to strafe the fleeing Reds for half an hour after the Americans routed them from the camp in 10 minutes of point blank shooting.

South Vietnamese militiamen sweeping through rubber-tree groves around the camp counted

83 Communists dead. U.S. spokesmen reported 12 Americans wounded and none killed. The estimated two battalions of Communists diverted for a smash at the artillery camp as they withdrew to Cambodian sanctuaries from the assault on suburbs of Tay Ninh City 53 miles northwest of Saigon.

Other Communist gunners fired 20 rounds of rocket and mortar fire into another U.S. Infantry base 10 miles to the northwest in a move designed to prevent reinforcements from moving out to Buell.

New fighting erupted today in a hamlet near Tay Ninh City, where 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops held suburbs for 30 hours Wednesday and Thursday.

UPI correspondent Nat Gibson reported that South Vietnamese paratroopers fought house-to-house with a rearguard of Viet Cong guerrillas dug into the hamlet two miles southwest of the city limits.

Heavy fighting raged past dusk and no casualty report had been issued, Gibson said. At fire support base Buell, 1st Lt. Steve Standley of Cutchogue, N.Y., a U.S. adviser with the Vietnamese militia, said Cambodian money was found in the pockets of the dead Communists. The Cambodian government does not acknowledge the presence of Red troops on its territory, which is less than 10 miles from the camp.

Court to Hear Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — A case that could affect some 38,000 reservists called to active duty in the Vietnam war buildup is going to be considered for a hearing by the Supreme Court.

Justice William O. Douglas Thursday ordered the government to delay sending 113 Army reservists to Vietnam until the court decides whether to consider their challenge of President Johnson's authority to activate them.

Johnson activated the reservists under a 1966 congressional act that empowers the President to call up the reserves without a declaration of war or national emergency. Douglas, phoning from a vacation in Goose Prairie, Wash., acted only a day before the reservists were to be shipped out for Vietnam.

The case is believed to be the first challenge to the 1966 act and Douglas said it raised substantial questions.

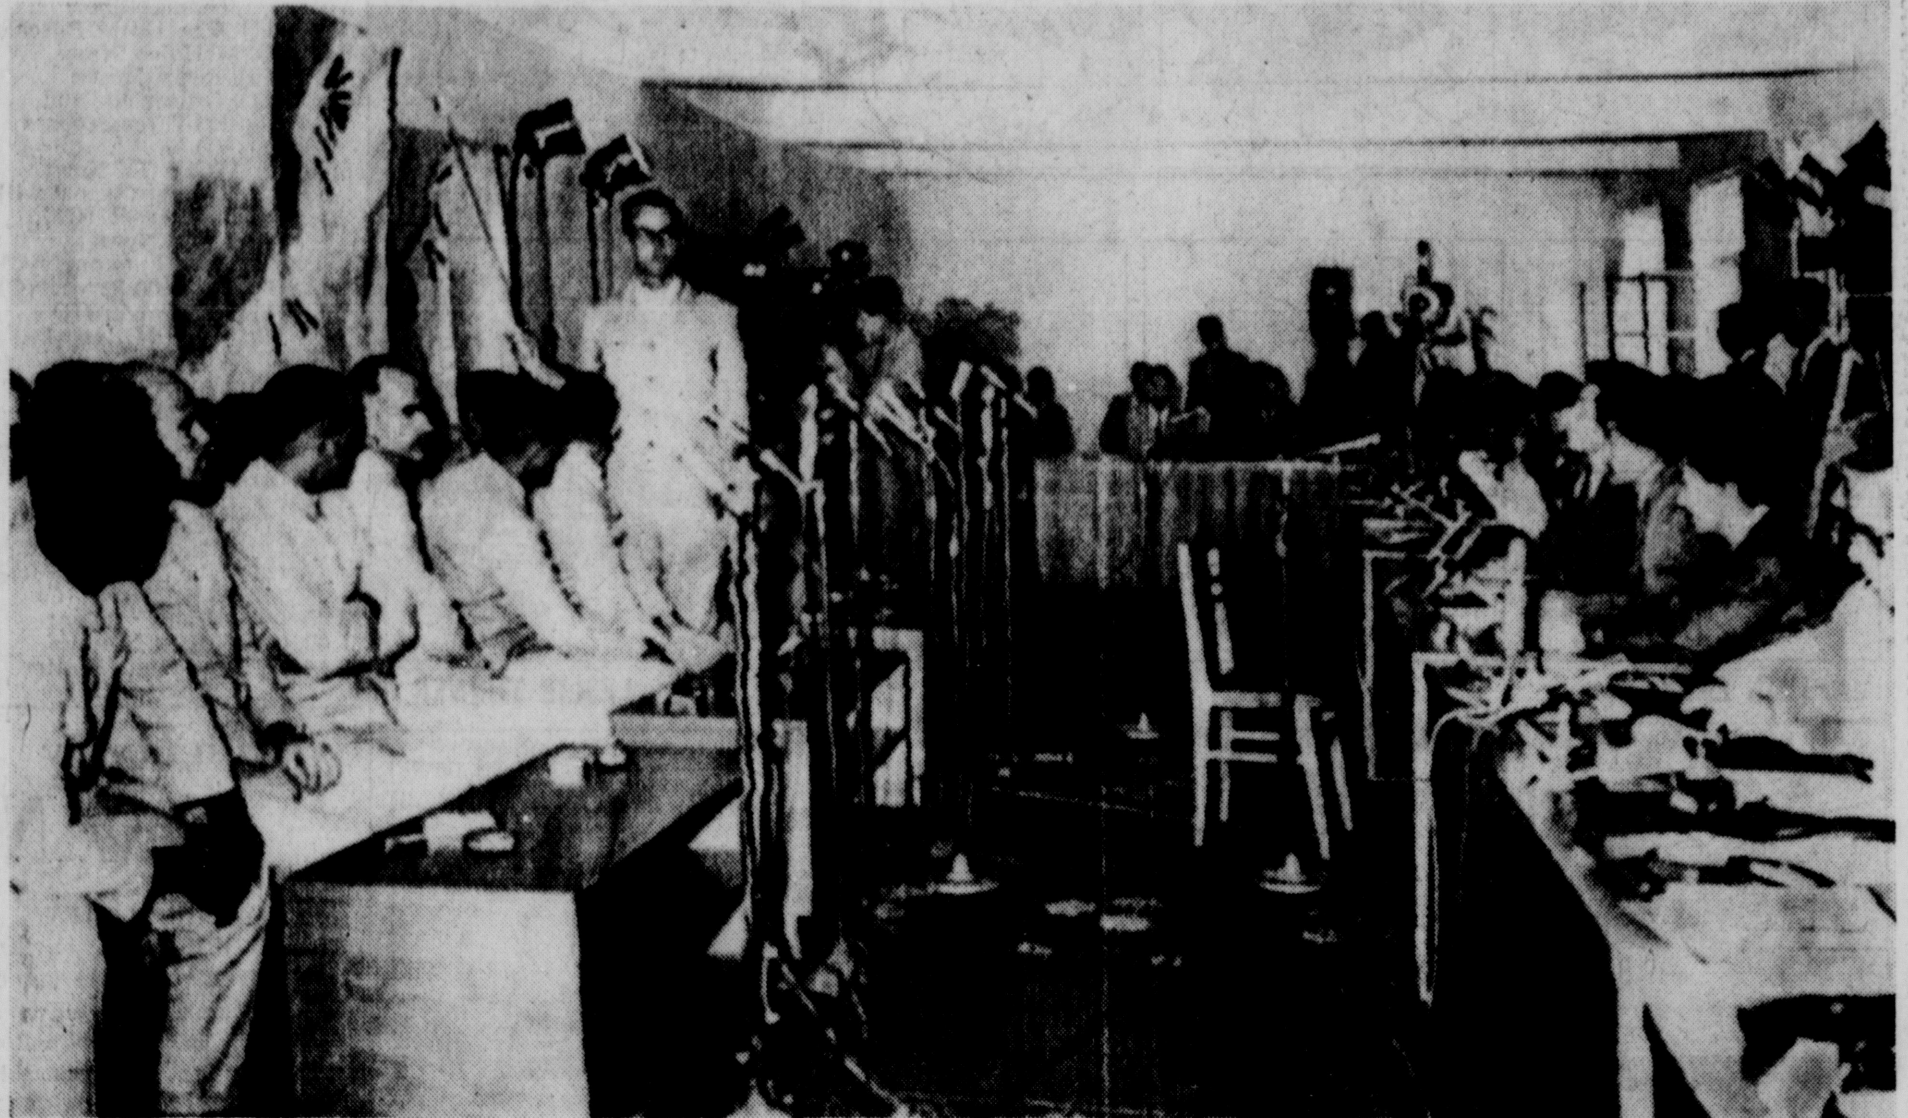

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Hugo L. Black both rejected review of the case last week in keeping with the court's past reluctance to rule on cases growing out of the war.

Douglas, however, and Justice Potter Stewart have called on their colleagues to come to grips with cases that challenge the legality of the war.

Douglas' ruling grants a temporary delay for the reservists until the court begins its full session Oct. 7. Should the full court decide to hear the case, the stay could be extended indefinitely. If it decides not to, then the stay would expire immediately.

The reservists claim the law is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power to the President by Congress. They also contend that even if the law is valid, they are exempt because they enlisted before it was enacted.

Pueblo on Spy Mission 13 Miles From Enemy Coasts

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has disclosed that the primary mission of the USS Pueblo was to spy on Soviet naval activity from a distance of at least 13 miles from the Soviet and North Korean coasts.

Details of the heretofore secret mission of the American intelligence ship were contained in secret sailing orders made public by the Defense Department Thursday night.

The Johnson administration took the unusual step of making public the ship's sailing orders in an effort to refute a North Korean radio broadcast which claimed the ship had instructions to sail to within three miles off the North Korean coast—well within the 12-mile limit which North Korea claims as territorial waters.

The State Department acknowledged that the North quoted one small section from a set of very general intelligence instructions to the Pueblo dating back to Feb. 28, 1968, or nearly two years before the mission which ended with its seizure by North Korea last Jan. 23.

U.S. officials insisted that these general instructions did not amount to an order for the Pueblo's specific mission, and were in fact superseded by orders contained in the sailing orders which was declassified by Deputy Defense Secretary Paul H. Nitze.

In the secret orders, issued Jan. 5, 1968, the Pueblo was told that "CPA (closest point of approach) to Communist Korea, the Soviet land mass, and offshore islands will be 13 nautical miles."

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Thursday that officials had "no reason to believe" that the vessel was within North Korean territorial waters when it was captured.

At the same time, the North

Koreans presented the Pueblo's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, and 20 of his men at a news conference and said the United States must apologize for "criminal acts of intrusion and sabotage."

In declassifying the sailing orders, the administration also officially disclosed new elements of the Pueblo's mission which previously had not been generally known.

Curiously, the orders made no clear reference to conducting espionage of North Korean

The United States is trying to schedule a 21st meeting with the ship to "intercept and North Korean negotiators to conduct surveillance" of Soviet discuss the release of the 82 naval activities around the surving Pueblo crewmembers, Tsushima Strait and the Sea of but so far has been unable to get agreement on a date.

The Cambodian government does not acknowledge the presence of Red troops on its territory, which is less than 10 miles from the camp.

Standley, a former engraver with the Long Island (N.Y.) Press, said many of the wounded Communists outside the outpost fought his patrol to the death rather than surrender.

Military spokesmen estimated the attackers were from a companion regiment to that which attacked Tay Ninh and indicated even larger Communist forces were prowling the border region than originally indicated.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national emergency.

Douglas, phoning from a vacation in Goose Prairie, Wash., acted only a day before the reservists were to be shipped out for Vietnam.

The case is believed to be the first challenge to the 1966 act and Douglas said it raised substantial questions.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Hugo L. Black both rejected review of the case last week in keeping with the court's past reluctance to rule on cases growing out of the war.

Douglas, however, and Justice Potter Stewart have called on their colleagues to come to grips with cases that challenge the legality of the war.

Douglas' ruling grants a temporary delay for the reservists until the court begins its fall session Oct. 7. Should the full court decide to hear the case, the stay could be extended indefinitely. If it decides not to, then the stay would expire immediately.

The reservists claim the law is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power to the President by Congress. They also contend that even if the law is valid, they are exempt because they enlisted before it was enacted.

S. Viet Mobilization Draws 240,000 Men

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — The results of South Vietnam's general mobilization far exceed the government's expectations. It has drawn more than 240,000 men into the armed forces, officials say.

"This is about 30 per cent above what we expected," said one official. The total includes 63,000 young draftees and an amazing 161,000 volunteers.

This has boosted the regular armed forces to more than 755,000 men, with 800,000 expected by the end of the year. Additionally, 400,000 men serve in loosely organized, sparsely armed local defense units, most

Agnew Withdraws Earlier Charge

By JOHN WOODFIELD

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew has withdrawn his charge that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is soft on communism.

"Had I ever realized the effect that this expression would have, I would have shunned it like the plague," the Republican vice presidential nominee said at a news conference Thursday.

"I would frankly call the use of that particular phrase on my part an error," the Maryland governor said.

Agnew said he was not aware when he made the remark in a Washington news conference this week that it would be interpreted against the political background of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, whose charges of communism in government led to countercharges of witchhunts.

Agnew said that had he known his remark criticizing the Democratic presidential nominee "would in some way cast me as the Joe McCarthy of 1968, I would have turned five somersaults to avoid saying it."

The soft-on-communism remark led some political observers to believe that Agnew had been designated the hard-line campaigner and that GOP presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon would take a loftier position on issues.

Agnew said, however, that he wanted to get off the low road of politics.

Before he retracted the phrase, the Republican congressional leaders, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, expressed disapproval of the remark at a Washington news conference.

Agnew said he had not been contacted by Nixon or any Nixon aides but said he spoke with Dirksen shortly after his arrival in Rochester.

"It would seem to me that there's been too much attention to the line they call the wormy side of the campaign. I said squishy-soft and I am not proud of it," Agnew said.

"So we are going to try to get off these catch phrases—as far as I am concerned we are going to get off of them—and move to the substantive issues of the campaign," he said.

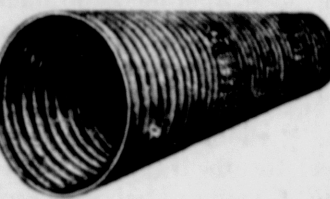

In his speech to a Republican rally here Thursday night, Agnew did not mention Humphrey by name. He attacked the domestic and foreign policies of the Johnson administration.

Agnew blamed the furor that erupted partly on the fact that "I have been confined to state and local government."

"You gentlemen are far more aware of the nuances of national political sayings than I am at this point," he said to reporters. Agnew campaigns in Erie, Pa. and Chicago today.

Red Albania to Quit Warsaw Pact in . . .

BELGRADE (UPI)—Communist Albania vowed to quit the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact military alliance today, something Hungary once tried and no other member before or since has dared try.

There was no speculation the Soviets would try physically to stop the Albanians, who are Communist Chinese allies and have been cold-shouldered out of Pact activities since 1961.

But Premier Mehmet Shehu warned the Russians, just in case, that "the 700 million Chinese people" will help deal with any Soviet retaliation.

The Albanian parliament was meeting today to vote on Shehu's withdrawal decision, made in a speech broadcast over Tirana Radio Thursday and monitored here. Approval was considered certain.

Shehu urged official withdrawal from the military pact because of the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

He said Soviet "aggression" against Czechoslovakia proved that the Kremlin has converted the Warsaw Pact "from a peace treaty into a treaty of enslaving war, from a treaty of defense against imperialism into an aggressive treaty against the socialist countries themselves."

Albania, a tiny Balkan state

on the Adriatic Sea facing Italy, has no common borders with the Soviet Union. It is bounded by Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece.

No other nation has ever withdrawn from the Warsaw Pact.

Bingo Profits Down in State

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Bingo profits declined $684,400, annual report of the State Bingo Control Commission for the period ending March 31, 1968, showed Thursday.

Net profits for the 1,774 licenses conducting bingo from Oct. 1, 1967 to March 31, 1968 was $14,236,700 compared to $14,921,100 for the period ending Sept. 30, 1967.

Pueblo on Spy Mission 13 Miles From Enemy Coasts

By NICHOLAS DANILOFF

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has disclosed that the primary mission of the USS Pueblo was to spy on Soviet dating back to Feb. 28, 1968, or naval activity from a distance of at least 12 miles from the coast, the State Department announced Thursday.

Details of the heretofore secret mission of the American intelligence ship were contained in secret sailing orders made public by the Defense Department Thursday night.

The Johnson administration took the unusual step of making public the ship's sailing orders in an effort to refute a North Korean radio broadcast which claimed the ship had instructions to sail to within three miles off the North Korean coast—well within the 12-mile limit which North Korea claims as territorial waters.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Thursday that officials had "no reason to believe" that the vessel was within North Korean territorial waters when it was captured.
